Sea Battle In Skagerrak Reported In Dispatches From Southwestern Sweden—Air Raid Alarm Sounded In Stroemstad

By RALPH FORTE
British United Press. Exclusive Cable to The Edmonton Bulletin.

STOCKHOLM, April 16. — Intensified aerial, military and naval activity—including a sea battle in the Skagerrak—was reported today in press dispatches from southeastern Sweden.

The newspaper Allehanda said that a "great sea battle" was reported in the Skagerrak at a point between the northern tip of Denmark and the Norwegian coast. Several towns along the Swedish coast reported naval activities of considerable dimensions, the newspaper said, and indicated that the battle was fought Monday afternoon.

A British United Press dispatch from Stroemstad on the Swedish coast of the Skagerrak said that heavy gunfire was heard from a southwesterly direction but no fighting units could be seen from the shore.

At Stroemstad ther waes an air raid alarm for the first time after 18 heavy German bombers were seen flying northward toward Oslo, but they kept outside Swedish territorial waters.

WARNING SHOTS

The Stockholm radio reported that two foreign airplanes had flown near Gothenburg this morning and that Swedish coastal vessels fired several warning shots at them. The Gothenburg harbor was declared a "forbidden area" in which none can enter without permit.

Frontier dispatches said that the Germans were pushing out from Trondheim, on the west coast of Norway, as rapidly as possible and reached a point only three miles from the Swedish frontier. Norway is only 45 miles wide in the Trondheim sector.

Late frontier reports indicate, however, that the Norwegians were still holding the Hegra fortifications in the Trondheim sector.

German troops fired at Swedish policemen on the Norwegian-Swedish frontier, a Stockholm newspaper reported today.

German detechments, advancing along a railroad bridge, reached the Swedish frontier at 2 p.m. yesterday, the newspaper Dagens Nyheter said, and were halted by Swedish border police.

NO ONE HIT

The Germans fired machine guns at the policemen, the newspaper said, But hit none of them.

Swedish soldiers went to the aid of the policemen and, it was said, shouted at the Germans: "Are you at war with Sweden?"

The Germans ceased fire and apologized, the newspaper said.

B.E.F. MAKES LANDING IN FAROE ISLES

LONDON, April 16.—Richard Butler, under-secretary for foreign affairs, told the House of Commons today that a British expeditionary force has been landed in the Faroe Islands, Danish possession between Scotland and Iceland.

The announcement showed that Britain had carried out plans for the occupation made known in the house Thursday by Winston Churchill, first lord of the admiralty.

Mr. Butler said the governor of the Faroe Islands replied on April 10 to a British communication, agreeing in the present circumstances to grant such facilities as Britain might require to prevent German forces establishing themselves there.

FARM PROJECT IS EXTENDED TO GIVE JOBS

Federal-Provincial Project Provides Work For Men Over 45

Extension of the Dominion-provincial "farm chore plan" by which men more than 45 years old are given employment on farms, was announced Tuesday by Hon. Dr. W. W. Cross, minister of health and in charge of relief. The plan was to have expired April 30, but now has been extended for the fiscal year 1940-1941.

Under this plan, men of more than 45 years are given employment on farms and receive $7.50 a month as well as their board. Their work is limited to doing chores.

Dr. Cross stated that he had had a letter from Humphrey Mitchell, director of placements for the Dominion labor department, stating that Hon. Norman McLarty, minister of labor, had approved extension of the plan for the fiscal year. Cost of the project is borne equally by the Dominion and provincial governments.

Allan Cup Final Series Opens In Toronto Saturday

MONTREAL, April 16.—Prof. W. G. Hardy, president of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, announced today the Allan Cup final series between Kirkland Lake Blue Devils and Calgary Stampeders, will start in Toronto Saturday.

The second game of the best-of-five series will be played in Toronto next Monday. Other dates have yet to be decided but it was learned there was a good chance the third game would be played in Montreal, although Dr. Hardy did not comment on the report.

Exports Discontinued — Danube River Police Strengthened

By DANIEL DE LUCE
Associated Press Staff Writer

BUCHAREST, April 16. — Rumania last night banned temporarily all exports of wheat to Germany and other foreign buyers and at the same time strengthened her Danube river police to protect the Reich's vital shipping from any possible attempt at sabotage.

Officials said wheat exports would be discontinued at least until after this year's harvest, which, it was estimated, would be insufficient to meet Rumania's own needs.

ASSURE RESERVES

Simultaneously the government economic council announced that measures had been taken to "assure adequate reserves of oil, coal and wood for Rumania's army and railroads."

Rumania's military and transport requirements for petroleum are to take precedence over deliveries abroad, but officials indicated later these were expected to be filled without serious interruption.

In oil circles it was understood the government would demand a larger share in the production of the foreign-owned oil companies.

DECISIONS CLARIFIED

Rumanian officials hastened to clarify the economic council's decisions which Germans first feared would block, at least temporarily, the flow of oil to the Reich.

Officials said assurance of army and railroad oil reserves was a matter which could quickly be arranged between the government and the producers. Rumania's output is much larger than her internal consumption.

They said the council's action, therefore, could not be interpreted as interference with exports of oil to Germany.

Port Of Narvik Wrested From German Hands

Allied Command Moving Strong Expeditionary Force Across North Sea—Nazis In Precarious Position

LONDON, April 16.—In a Norwegian broadcast last night over British Broadcasting Corporation facilities, Erik Colban, Norwegian minister, told his countrymen that Narvik had been captured by the British forces. "Our friends on this side of the North Sea have entered into the struggle on our side with full seriousness," he said. "The help for Norway which the Norwegian government has asked the French and British governments to provide is being given and is assuming great proportions."

LONDON, April 16. — The Allied command, already having transported its first troops on Norwegian soil, is moving a strong expeditionary force across the sea.

A war office-admiralty statement yesterday that British forces had "landed at several points in Norway" was amplified by unofficial reports and indications that the landings did include both British and French soldiers, with the large stores of food and ammunition, and also equipment as trucks, armored cars and tanks.

It appears that the expeditionary force represents all or part of the 100,000 men the allies offered to Finland before her peace with Soviet Russia, or other troops facilitated by the arrangements for transport and supply that were completed at that time.

Diplomatic quarters underlined the importance of the allied counter-offensive in Scandinavia, and expressed belief that successes thus far had thwarted any Nazi attempt to stampede neutral nations into climbing on the German bandwagon.

IMPRESS ITALY

Italy equally, diplomatic observers said, would be impressed by the allied display of sea power making the expedition possible.

In the week that has followed the occupation of Denmark and the first German landings on Norwegian shores, allied naval forces — almost entirely British — have cleared the seaways sufficiently to permit a large scale movement of manpower, with a warship convoy.

The Scandinavian counter-offensive has been getting a bad press in Italy. The London News Chronicle, commenting on this hostility, said:

"Keep an eye on Italy. We do not want to see Italy at war with the Allies. We have plenty on our hands already—and we like the Italian people. But if Il Duce should embark now to fight on the side of Hitler his country must expect the fate which awaits aggressors."

POINTS NOT IDENTIFIED

The statement of the admiralty and office that troops had been landed did not identify the exact points of debarkation but Scandinavian sources already had pictured Narvik, far northern Norway, now reported wrested from German hands, as the most likely landing point.

Neutral quarters in London quickly added their opinion that troops also had been landed at Namsos and Andalsnes, about 100 miles respectively north and south of Trondheim on the middle western coast.

The Narvik sector was regarded as isolated, being the extreme northern point of German occupation, and far removed from other points originally seized by the Nazis. Landings at Namsos and Andalsnes would offer the possibility of a vast pincer movement on Germans held Trondheim while British naval forces blockaded Trondheim fjord.

STOCKHOLM, April 16.—British and Norwegian troops were reported in joint possession of Norway's northern iron ore port of Narvik today after driving its German defenders back into the hills, where they were said to be occupying a precarious position.

Recapture of the important Arctic shipping centre was announced by Norwegian military headquarters, which added that British soldiers and marines, equipped with light artillery, had landed at several other points in Norway's west coast.

The Norwegian communique gave no details of the action around Narvik but unofficial sources said that German forces which had held the town since last Tuesday had retreated along the railway leading to the Swedish border, about 20 miles away at that point.

The same sources said Norwegian troops were manoeuvring to surround the Germans.

There were unconfirmed reports that some Germans had crossed the frontier and had been interned by Swedish authorities.

The landing of the British forces at Narvik was said to have been accomplished under the British naval guns which previously were reported to have destroyed all German naval vessels in the vicinity.

The Norwegian high command's announcement of the recapture of Narvik was accompanied by a government broadcast expressing confidence that with the aid of Britain and France "we shall win back Norway for the Norwegian people."

The broadcast called upon Norwegian officers to "co-operate to the fullest extent with their British and French Allies" and to consult with the Allied commanders "to avoid friction and blunders."

The Norwegian troops were warned, however, that the German forces were numerous and well armed," and were cautioned against undertaking "any rash actions."

Middle East Armies Are Geared To Meet Any Moves By Italy

Reynolds Packard, manager of the British United Press Rome bureau and well known to newspaper readers for his work in the German occupation of Czechoslovakia, has returned to his post after a three-months tour of the Near East where the British and French have mobilized a huge army. In the following dispatch Packard reports on the conclusions to be drawn from what he saw, namely, that the army is geared not for action against Russia, but for the possibility of Italy entering the war on Germany's side. His dispatch is timely in view of current developments in Italy.—EDITOR

ROME, April 16.—The Allied armies in the east are geared to meet the possibility of Italy entering the war on the side of Germany.

A three-month inspection tour of the Near East to see at first hand the Anglo-French fighting machine as set up in Syria, Egypt, Palestine, Iraq, Iran and India convinced me that this preparedness is not aimed at Russia, as is popularly supposed.

On the contrary it is a precautionary move to hold the Suez canal, Egypt and the Sudan against any invasion through Italian Libya or even Ethiopia.

The army in the middle east seemed small, er than is generally believed.

LORD LOTHIAN

CANADA WON'T MAKE SEIZURE OF GREENLAND

Action Only Will Be Taken If Germany Makes Move

WASHINGTON, April 16—Lord Lothian, British ambassador to the United States, said today neither Britain nor Canada would move into Greenland or Iceland unless it seemed certain Germany was about to attempt to seize the islands.

Lord Lothian made this statement to reporters at the state department after a talk with officials there.

"Greenland might make a good airbase for Germany," he added, "but they could never maintain it. We could give them a knockout blow there without any trouble."

MONROE DOCTRINE

The ambassador expressed his belief that Greenland "comes clearly within the Monroe Doctrine, being in the western hemisphere." He said the status of Iceland was probably different.

Lord Lothian predicted that the system of navicerts (navigation certificates) now applied to Atlantic shipping might be extended to the Pacific, to prevent supplies from the west coast from reaching Germany via Russia.

He was shown a dispatch from London quoting Ronald H. Cross, minister of shipping, as saying that Britain had sufficient evidence that shipments from Los Angeles and South American ports to Vladivostok, Russian far eastern port, were really intended for Germany.

Lord Lothian recalled that Britain had already detained two Russian ships which left San Francisco for Vladivostok with cargoes of copper.

MAY STOP SHIPS

"There seems no doubt that some supplies are going across Russia to Germany on the trans-Siberian railroad," he said. "We shall have to adopt the same procedure we have adopted in the Atlantic, that of stopping ships to see whether they are carrying contraband destined for Germany. This will probably involve the setting up of a system of navicerts for the Pacific."

Navicerts are documents issued by the British embassy certifying that items of cargo are of "innocent character," that is, are not contraband and are not destined to Germany.

CONTROL PORT OUT

He said one of the points under discussion, the establishment of a control port in Canada, at Saint John, N.B., was eliminated by President Roosevelt's extension of the combat area to embrace all of Scandinavia and some Russian ports.

The Canadian control port was to have been instituted to eliminate the taking of American ships into control ports within the combat area.

Copper and a wide range of manufactures, along with some gasoline, formed the principal exports of the United States going to Russia from the west coast ports.

Detachments First Division Now In Norway

Official Quarters, However, Refuse To Confirm Or Deny Report—London Papers Headline "Canadians Land In Norway"

LONDON, April 16.—Citing "well informed military circles" as its authority, the Press Association today declared that a large body of Canadian troops are now in Norway, fighting with British and French forces against the Germans. Official quarters, however, refused to confirm or deny the report.

These Canadians, according to the Press Association, are men who volunteered for the force which Britain originally intended to send to the assistance of Finland.

"It is believed that when Germany invaded Norway, the Finnish Expeditionary Force was reconstructed and that the Canadians were served with equipment which would be used in northern Norway in the present campaign," the Press Association added.

It said this voluntary force had been undergoing intensive training in methods of warfare particularly suitable for action in mountainous, snow-bound country.

Military authorities declined to discuss the possibility that units of the first division, Canadian Active Service Force, are en route or are preparing to leave for the northern theatre of war.

BRIEF MESSAGE

The reports were prompted by this brief message issued by Reuters news agency: "Reuters understands that a number of Canadian troops are included in the British Expeditionary Force in Norway."

A few minutes later posters appeared on London streets with screaming headlines declaring "Canadians land in Norway?"

News-sellers were besieged by citizens eager to learn details, but they were disappointed. The newspapers contained nothing beyond Reuters' brief report.

Urgent calls to Canadian military headquarters and the war office failed to elicit any concrete information.

NOTHING TO SAY

"We've heard the report but have absolutely nothing to say," said a senior officer.

"It would be contrary to all rules and regulations to discuss publicly the movements and disposition of our forces," he added. "I regret that the report can neither be confirmed nor denied officially."

Meanwhile preparations were proceeding in London to welcome a detachment of the Royal 22nd regiment, of Quebec which will take up guard duty at the royal palaces starting tomorrow.

Since the 10-word announcement from Paris further details on the fighting of troops at several points in Norway, the public has been impatiently awaiting further details. So far there has been no amplification of the laconic communique from official sources.

WELL-SEASONED TROOPS

The Press Association, however, declared the expeditionary force in Norway includes regiments from all parts of the country and that all are well-seasoned troops.

If Canadian troops are with the landing forces, they will find the climate and terrain to their liking. Those who know the qualities of the Canucks as fighters also claim they would be particularly adept at the guerilla warfare for which the rugged land of the country offers ample scope.

Commenting on the Allied landings, Sir Charles Portsfield, former British minister to Norway, declared the seaport would find campaigning in the woodlands particularly troublesome. Conspicuously, he said, roads and railways would become vital factors.

No Comment From Defence Department

OTTAWA, April 16.—No comment was forthcoming today from the department of national defence on report from London that Canadian troops were included in the British Expeditionary Force in Norway.

"There is no comment whatever from the department," said a spokesman when informed of the London press report.

Twenty-six-year-olds are under orders to register April 27.

ONLY 1 RADIO LICENSE FOR HOME NEEDED

Will Cover All Receiving Sets In Private Residence

OTTAWA, April 16.—Hon. C. D. Howe, minister of transport, announced today that only one radio receiving license will be required for all radio receiving sets installed in a private residence instead of one license for each set as formerly.

Today's ruling is retroactive to April 1 last when licences for 1939-40 expired.

Additional licenses still will be required for radio sets in automobiles and similarly a separate license still is necessary for receiving sets installed in each tenement or flat in separate occupation in hotel rooms and also in quarters of roomers in private dwellings.

The matter of radio licenses has been under consideration for some time by the department and the governors of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation and the governors now holding a routine meeting, the recommended that the existing license fee of $2.50 be retained.

The transport minister said another recommendation from the CBC governors being considered was the question of charging a larger or additional fee for radio receiving sets in public places."

Any overpayment of license fees made during the current fiscal year will be adjusted, the minister said.

1,000 Persons Are Homeless as Result Of Alberta Floods

DRUMHELLER, Alta., April 16.—The flood waters dropped seven feet at Drumheller and three feet at East Coulee during the night, and today residents of the flood-stricken Drumheller Valley began to go home. Last night before the waters began to recede a hundred houses in East Coulee had to be evacuated, residents fleeing to higher ground by boat. The danger is now believed to be passed in the valley.

DRUMHELLER, April 16.—The flood-swept Drumheller valley, with a thousand persons homeless in eight towns, pinned its hope for relief from rampaging rivers and creeks last night on continued cooler weather.

Meanwhile, the provincial government announced it would issue emergency relief to those forced from their homes by the flood.

The worst flood since 1915 saw waters of the Red Deer river and Rosebud creeks rise in some places 15 feet with huge cakes of ice rising over the banks, crushing homes, barns and stables, and snapping off poles and trees. Hard hit in the valley were Drumheller, North Drumheller, Parkdale, East Coulee, Lehigh, Wayne, Rosebud and Newcastle.

SPRING THAW CAUSE

High water was caused by spring thawing.

Elsewhere in the province, floods forced families to flee from homes in Innisfail and Carbon, while Red Deer and Gleichen were also hit by high water but none were forced to move. The hope of all in the flooded areas is that the cool weather continues, for deep blankets of snow still lie on the Alberta prairies and a sudden thaw will only increase the depth of creeks and rivers. The forecast, however, was "fair and mild."

Over 200 families, comprising approximately 1,000 persons, in the area centred in the Red Deer valley before the rising water and the unrushing ice floes. Hardest hit was Newcastle, lying in the Red Deer flats a few miles down the Red Deer river from Drumheller.

There, 75 families fled as the water invaded three-quarters of the town. The evacuated families, totalling nearly 400 persons, are living in the Social Credit hall, the United Church mission and these friends whose homes are out of the danger area.

REACHES FULL FLOOD

Early Monday, the Red Deer river, swollen by the weather, suddenly came down in full flood, rising 15 feet within an hour. Its waters flooded North Drumheller and Parkdale just outside the town. Several houses were lifted from their foundations as ice buffeted them.

A small railroad bridge over a branch of Rosebud creek at Munson, 40 miles south of Drumheller and about 60 miles east of Calgary, was wiped out by flood waters, railway officials announced today between Calgary and Drumheller for six hours. Emergency crews rebuilt the bridge to allow Canadian National Railways to resume service.

Gordon Taylor, M.L.A. for Drumheller, announced last night he had been informed by the provincial government that emergency relief supplies issued to the homeless John Grey Drumheller, will be administrator of this emergency relief.

Carbon felt the brunt of the rise in the Knee Hill creek; 30 families being forced out of their homes by the flood which stood in 40 years. A Canadian Pacific Railway bridge at Sharples Junction, near Carbon, was washed out cutting C.P.R. service between Calgary and the coal city.

The Alberta division of the Canadian Red Cross Society is standing by to help wherever its help is required.

11 TRANSPORTS ARE SUNK BY BRITISH NAVY

Submarines Torpedo Seven German Naval Auxiliaries

LONDON, April 16.—The Admiralty announced today that 11 German transports and naval auxiliaries totalling 50,886 tons had been sunk or scuttled and that four merchantmen totalling 9,498 tons had been captured by Great Britain as a result of the German invasion of Norway.

Seven of the ships sunk were torpedoed by British submarines, the announcement said.

Naval Sources estimated that in addition to the losses listed by the admiralty, "at least 18,000 tons of German shipping has been sunk by British submarines." An additional number of German ships were believed sunk in Norwegian ports, these sources said.

The admiralty said the British merchant fleet had suffered no losses during the week ended midnight Sunday—the first week since the beginning of the war without a loss.

Four neutral ships totalling 14,426 tons, were sunk during the week, and Britain's new ally, Norway, lost one ship.

Total German merchant shipping losses were put at 363,530 tons, and it was said actual losses might exceed 400,000 tons.

GERMANS SAY KING CAPTIVE OF ADVISERS

BERLIN, April 16.—The German news agency today asserted that King Haakon of Norway is a "captive" of his advisers, led from Norway to town in Norway and kept ignorant of the "actual situation" in his country.

The agency sought to cast doubt on the authenticity of the radio appeal to his people to resist Germany which King Haakon made Sunday night. The broadcast either was not made by the King and was "typically British atrocity propaganda" or, if it was made by Haakon, it was a result of misguidance by his advisers, the statement said.

It denied that the German air force had been ordered to attack the King personally and the Norwegian civilian population, as stated by the British foreign office and by the king in the broadcast.

Explosion Of Gas Used In Operation Kills N.Y. Woman

NEW YORK, April 16 — Mrs. Duncan Sutphen, Jr., a socially prominent mother of two, died yesterday in Sloane Memorial hospital after an explosion of anesthetic gas which was being used to put her in a coma for a minor operation.

Assistant medical examiner Raymond H. Mills reported after an autopsy that Mrs. Sutphen had died of a ruptured windpipe.

The explosion—apparently caused by a static spark, Mr. Mills said—occurred after the patient had been put into a coma with cyclopropane gas.

MIDDLE EAST ARMS GEARED TO CURB ITALY

mobile forces so organized as to be able to rush to Egypt at a moment's notice. Italian Libya adjoins Egypt. According to unimpeachable sources the Australians originally were intended to be stationed in Egypt, but owing to the Egyptians' desire not to have too many British troops maintained on their territory, the Australians were dispatched at the last minute to Palestine.

Virtually all the equipment I saw in Syria and Palestine, as well as in Egypt, including balloon tire transports and water supply trucks, was constructed for desert use, giving the impression that the prospective terrain was unlikely to be Turkey or Russia. Newspapers in Palestine, Syria and Egypt, censored for military secrets, are permitted to talk freely of possible attacks from Italy, but no speculation is permitted regarding Italy.

The Italian airplane on which I flew from Cairo was escorted across the desert between Libya and Cairo as it formerly did. Inbound Italian planes must fly a roundabout way along the coast from Benghasi to Alexandria, where they must descend to 1,500 feet so they can be checked from the ground until they reach Cairo, making the Benghasi-Cairo flight two hours longer than before the war.

Italian correspondents complained of the restrictions placed on them in most of these countries.

INDIA UNIMPORTANT

India, which some military experts consider a possible Russian objective and to which the Khyber Pass would be the gateway, is practically devoid, I found, of any special defensive preparations. On the contrary, crack Indian troops have been transferred to Egypt and I saw them encamped in the shadow of the pyramids.

It seems logical that if the allies had any anxiety over Russia, India would be turned into one of the bulwarks of allied defense in this part of the world; yet my travels which took me to northern India gave no hint of any such preparations.

Ahe majority of military experts and impartial observers in the east agreed that if Italy should enter the war on the side of Germany she would have to seize immediately the Suez canal, Egypt, and the Sudan or abolition of the Suez canal would otherwise be cut off from Italy. It was also pointed out in this connection that the Suez canal always been among Italian aspirations.

SEPARATE COMMANDS

The British and French armies of the east are organized to fight as a single machine, but separate commands are maintained.

While I was in Beirut, Weygand's aide - de - camp emphasized that Weygand was merely commanding the French forces and was not over the British troops of the East.

The allied board of the East have an extraordinarily large number of officers in relation to the number of men. This top-heavy staff apparently is aimed at training officers so they can familiarize themselves with the terrain and be in readiness to command reinforcements which may be sent later from other parts.

In this connection I found the Eastern army much smaller than I expected.

HITLER WOULD FORCE BRITAIN ACCEPT WORLD

British United Press

LONDON, April 16. — Harold Nicholson, member of parliament, told this story of Adolf Hitler in a radio broadcast last night:

"Hitler once told a friend of mine his greatest desire was to bare his soul in a high conversation with an Englishman.

"My friend asked, 'What would you say?'

"Hitler extended his arms toward the Berchtesgaden Mountains and replied: 'I would say to him, after me Europe and I'll give them the rest of the world.'

"My friend said, 'But Britain would simply loathe being given the rest of the world. They have enough trouble of their own.'

"Hitler replied, angrily, 'I should force them to take it!'"

STRIKE TIES UP GRAIN SHIPPING ON GREAT LAKES

TORONTO, April 16—Few ships moved out of Lakehead Canadian Great Lakes ports today as ice and a strike by the Canadian Seamen's Union combined to delay an expected rush of grain from the lakehead.

Union officials in Toronto claimed the strike was 100 per cent effective in tying up navigation, and they added the strike might be extended to the licensed personnel of the boats and the strike would go on for months if necessary to obtain their demands.

The strike, now in its second day, was called by the union after they said a number of shipping companies would not negotiate a new agreement covering wages and working conditions. Company officials said they would not accept the union's essential demand, the closed shop, and that they were due to negotiate as long as the union demanded this.

The union also asked for a $15 a month increase and three extra men on each boat, but union president J. A. (Pat) Sullivan announced one company had signed an agreement with the union that provided for the closed shop, $10 a month wage increase and overtime.

QUEEN APPROVES CANADA'S PIPERS

VANCOUVER, April 16.—Queen Elizabeth thinks there are better pipe bands in Canada than in Scotland, but she dropped her voice to a whisper when she confided this to Pipe Major Edmund Esson of the Seaforth Highlanders, who was presented to her in Scotland.

Both of them laughed over her remark but the pipe major only disclosed the cause of their amusement in a letter to his mother, Mrs. H. R. Esson of Vancouver.

Newspaper men who saw them talking couldn't get the details out of Pipe Major Esson and the Edinburgh Scotsman remarked. "With Pipe Major Esson, who hails from Vancouver, the Queen had a joke that made them both laugh heartily. Afterwards he refused afterwards to tell. 'Not while I'm in Scotland,' said he laughing. 'That's a secret.'"

The pipe major told his mother the Queen asked him if his band had played before her and the King during the royal visit to Vancouver last summer, and then said: "You know, I have heard better pipe bands in Canada than in Scotland."

WORLD UNSAFE UNTIL HITLER IS DESTROYED

Chamberlain Repeats Confidence German "Monsters" Will Be Beaten

LONDON, April 16.—Prime Minister Chamberlain declared today the German invasion of Norway and Denmark showed that "no people, however meek, however peaceful, however harmless they may be, can be safe until this mad dog is destroyed."

Mr. Chamberlain reiterated his confidence that the "monsters of wickedness in Germany" would be destroyed.

Addressing the National Free Church Council in London, the prime minister said that "since this latest exhibition of the powers of wickedness in Germany who seem to have shut the gates of mercy upon themselves" his thoughts have been occupied with how to counter that stroke.

NEW DEMONSTRATION

"Every day that passes gives us some new demonstration of Germany's utter disregard of religion, of mercy, of truth and of justice," Mr. Chamberlain said.

"If they were to triumph in what they are doing, why then every fortress that had been built to civilization upon the principles of Christianity would go down and the world would relax into that barbarism which only a little while ago we thought had been buried under the debris of the ages.

"They won't go down.

"Only a short while ago I declared that I felt 10 times more confident as at the beginning of the war of ultimate victory.

"I repeat that confidence now.

"Every victim which feels the weight of Germany's savagery adds millions to those who have already condemned it, and because every act of hers makes it even more unmistakeably clear that no human power can ever preserve peaceful, however harmless they may be, can be safe until this mad dog is destroyed."

Mr. Chamberlain said Germany had made many miscalculations "but none greater" than the invasion of Denmark and Norway.

SPIRITUAL FORCES

"This war will be won by the spiritual forces of the world as much as by the material power of their brave defenders.

"These spiritual forces have been affronted by what Germany has done and it falls to us, as the main duty is to uphold and to exalt the spiritual life of this country—I appeal to you with confidence to give us your aid to crush the powers of tyranny and wickedness forever."

Apologizing for his hasty departure to attend the house of commons, Mr. Chamberlain said he would leave his wife—"my most precious possession"—now his pledge to return in the future.

NAZI AIR BASE AT STAVANGER AGAIN BOMBED

LONDON, April 16—British warplanes bombed the German air base at Stavanger, Norway, "successfully" last night, the air ministry announced today.

The attack was the seventh the Royal Air Force have reported making on Stavanger, southwestern port, since the Germans invaded Norway a week ago today.

A communique said the incendiary and heavy high explosive bombs were used in the attack with great effect.

Two extensive fires were observed after the attack, the air ministry said, and all of the British planes returned safely.

The Stavanger air base is regarded by the British as the most important air base in Norway.

Hungarian Floods Will Hit Germany's Imports Of Grains

BUDAPEST, April 16. — Government agricultural experts last night estimated that the floods sweeping through the Hungarian plains regions would reduce this year grain crops by 30 to 50 per cent.

NAZIS HINT AT NEW EVENTS OVER EUROPE

Germans Admit Reverses At Narvik—Talk Of Action Elsewhere

By LOUIS LOCHNER
Associated Press Staff Writer

BERLIN, April 16.—German officialdom consoled itself last night over admitted reverses at Narvik by insisting that other Norwegian ports were more important and by hinting at possible events elsewhere in Europe.

The Germans acknowledged that Great Britain had hemmed Narvik, Norway's northern ice-shipping port, inside a tight blockade but they claimed that no British forces had landed at any Norwegian point German had reached first.

(Without divulging numbers or places, London announced landings had been made at several Norwegian coastal points. Norwegian advices reaching Stockholm said Narvik was one of these.)

The German press seconds the thesis that Berger and Trondheim are better suited to German's needs. Thus the Hamburger Fremdenblatt observes:

"All German plans against the British Isles can, henceforth, proceed from a firm basis of German forces, by their courageous coup d'etat, liberated themselves from encirclement in the North sea and advanced to bases lying on the open Atlantic in the same latitude as the northern tip of the British Isles."

This leads to suppose what is generally rumored—that Germany intends to attack Britain in the north, chiefly by air.

"Inasmuch as German strategy is built on the greatest use of the air force," the Hamburg newspaper continued, "this tremendous expansion of German air bases toward the north and appreciably closer to the British coast is of great importance for events that are to follow."

BELGIUM STANDS PAT AS NEUTRAL AND INDEPENDENT

British United Press

BRUSSELS, April 16.—Foreign Minister Paul Henri Spaak told the Belgian senate today that Belgium would not depart from a course of complete neutrality. His statement was regarded as rejecting Allied suggestions that small neutrals seek Franco-British protection "before it is too late."

Spaak said—and we quote—"The Belgium government will not accept any suggestion which would cause abandonment of the route which the government has chosen—neutrality and complete independence."

Spaak said that Belgium wants peace, chiefly to save the country from becoming Europe's battlefield.

New Heroes Produced by Sea Battles

LONDON, April 16—Stories of individual exploits filtering in from the scenes of northern warfare yesterday gave the British some new heroes and touched off numerous celebrations.

In Stoughton, Essex, villagers gathered at "The Coach and Horses" tavern to drink the health of Vice-Admiral William J. Whitworth, their fellow townsman who commanded the battleship Warspite's force into Narvik harbor Saturday.

Many home towns gave heroes welcome to the 177 survivors of the destroyer Gurkha which went down with her guns blazing after 4½ hours fight with German bombers.

The Gurkha's commander, Captain Anthony Buzzard, tossed into a lifeboat by crewmen when he tried to stick with his ship, asked for a new destroyer to continue fighting the Germans.

A cat named Smut, mascot on the Gurkha, was among the survivors. She owes her life to an artillery officer who swam for 20 minutes with the cat on his shoulder until rescued by the cruiser Aurora.

Now Smut is the Aurora's mascot.

ROYAL 22ND IS MET BY CHEER OF LONDONERS

French-Canadian Regiment Takes Over Guarding Of Palace

By PAT USSHER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, April 16.—To the acclaim of thousands of Londoners who stopped to cheer, 80 picked officers and men of the Royal 22nd Regiment marched through the heart of the city today wearing full battle dress and tin helmets.

The detachment of the famous French-Canadian unit arrived at Waterloo station and marched through busy avenues to Wellington barracks from which the men will parade tomorrow to take over guard duties at the Royal Palaces.

The detachment swung along to the brass band of the Grenadier Guards and a pipe band of the Irish Guards.

NO CEREMONY

There was no ceremony at the station. The units paraded on the platform beside the train in which they travelled from Aldershot and then marched to the roadway behind the Guards bands.

Waves of cheering rolled through dingy Waterloo as the sturdy French-Canadians, displaying precision in every movement, marched towards the barracks.

They headed over Westminster Bridge, past Big Ben and the Houses of Parliament, and down along Birdcage Walk to the barracks across the way from Buckingham Palace.

SOLDIERS SALUTE

Two privates of the Royal Artillery snaped smartly to attention as the Royal 22nd came by.

Finally the Canadians wheeled into the broad parade ground of the barracks while scores of British soldiers gazed from windows. Finally the detachment disappeared from public view.

Only one woman was allowed on the platform as the Royal 22nd arrived. She was Mrs. Charlebois, wife of Captain Gerard Charlebois, commander of the contingent.

"I am so glad to see you," said as the men swung from the station.

JAPAN READY FOR ACTION IN DUTCH INDIES

Will Make No Move Until Interfered With By Another Power

TOKYO, April 16. — Foreign Minister Hachiro Arita's declaration that Japan would be deeply concerned over any development in the war affecting the Netherlands East Indies "is a prelude to action by Japan," Yakichiro Suma, foreign office press chief, told Japanese newspapermen today.

In commenting on Arita's statement, newspapers said, however, that Japan is not planning any immediate move against the islands and will make no move until some other power interfered.

Three hypotheses were considered here:

1—Occupation of the Netherlands islands by Great Britain.

2—Occupation by Germany.

3—Establishment of a protectorate over them by the United States.

All three of these actions would be equally inadmissible for Japan, Tokyo spokesmen said. They claimed that the islands are of the utmost importance to Japan from an economic standpoint, with Tokyo receiving most of its oil, rubber, tin, bauxite and sugar from this source.

The spokesman added that Japanese interest in the islands is purely economic and that Tokyo has no territorial ambitions in connection with them.

COMPANIES TO TRAIN PILOTS IN AIR SCHEME

Elementary Training Will Be Done By Private Organizations

OTTAWA, April 16—A company to be known as the Malton Flying Training School Limited, with the Toronto flying club as principal shareholder, will operate No. 1 elementary flying training school under the British Commonwealth air training plan at Malton airport, Toronto, it was announced last night.

Representatives of the Canadian Flying Clubs Association, with which are affiliated 23 amateur flying clubs throughout Canada, have been negotiating with the national defence department for some months to establish what part they could play in the ambitious air training plan. At a convention last autumn the association went on record as being ready to aid the government in any manner desired.

Royal Canadian Air Force officials also announced last night that a company to be known as Dominion Skyways (Training) Limited, with Dominion Skyways Limited as principal shareholder, will operate No. 1 air observers' school at Malton airport, and indicate that other long-established commercial aviation companies might operate similar observers' schools under the British Commonwealth air training plan.

While certain of the amateur flying clubs have since last June been giving elementary flight instruction to R.C.A.F. recruits under a contract agreement with the air force, new arrangements with individual clubs now are being entered into.

Last night's announcement said that each elementary school established "will be conducted by a company operating under a Dominion charter in accordance with requirements of the Royal Canadian Air Force."

In reference to the observers' schools, the department statement stipulated that commercial aviation companies to be so employed "must be operated under a Dominion charter."

NORWAY SHIPS TOLD TO IGNORE GERMAN ORDERS

STOCKHOLM, April 16—Via Radio—The Norwegian government last night announced it was broadcasting over radio stations still controlled by it the following warning to Norwegian ships:

"Telegrams which you receive from Norway signed by the owners are dispatched by German authorities.

"Orders received from the Norwegian legation (in Washington, D.C.), or broadcast over the British Broadcasting stations, are authentic.

"Masters on the high seas may contact the nearest Allied naval authorities and ought to avoid calling at neutral ports."

He has now been adopted by members of the Royal Canadian Air Force as the school's official mascot.

Mr. Sherrill, an American and until recently associated with Liberty magazine in the United States, aired his views on the international situation in reply to a question at the conclusion of an address to the London Advertising and Sales club.

Prefaced with a warning that he was "No Jimmy Cromwell" and not attached to any diplomatic service, he enlarged:

"We have a problem that must be licked and the more of us that line ourseves up in the present Great War, the quicker it will be over. I'd like to see all the democracies of the world standing shoulder to shoulder to wipe this threat to liberty off the earth."

Soldiers On Leave In Canada Eligible For Medical Care

OTTAWA, April 16—Officers and ranks of the Canadian Active Service Force who become ill while on leave or furlough with pay in Canada will be eligible for medical treatment at public expense according to instructions issued by the national defence department.

P.E.I. HOUSE TO CONSIDER LAW FOR BEER SALE

CHARLOTTETOWN, April 16—Legislation providing for sale of beer under government control in Prince Edward Island, now Canada's only "dry" province, was introduced yesterday in the legislature.

John Mustard (Lib. 3rd King's) introduced the measure as an amendment to the island's Prohibition Act. The bill makes provision for its own repeal in the event a plebiscite to be held before the next provincial election showed a majority of voters against the sale of beer.

Under the existing legislation no alcoholic liquors of any kind may be sold in this province except under a doctor's prescription and from official vendors.

Mustard's bill would not give permission for sale of wines or hard liquors.

A NEW AND Better MOTOR OIL

AS ANNOUNCED OVER THE AIR FROM COAST TO COAST

Just in time for your Spring change-over

Right now at Imperial Oil dealers, the New Marvelube is ready for your Spring change-over. It is the most modern development in automobile lubrication. It has been specially engineered to meet the requirements of today's engines, and to stand up under the higher speeds, temperatures and pressures at which they operate. To you the New Marvelube means two things:

1. Economy. Under the high temperatures and pressures at which today's motors operate, the New Marvelube stands up longer. Definitely, you use less oil.

2. A cleaner, livelier engine. Those elements found in most oils which heat breaks down into varnish, carbon and gum, have been removed by new scientific refining methods. Your engine stays clean and lively. Wear is reduced. Upkeep costs come down.

It's time to change to summer oil. Be sure to change to the most modern oil science has yet produced. See your Imperial Oil Dealer—and ask for the New Marvelube.

AVAILABLE IN CANS AND BULK
SPECIAL GRADES FOR AUTOMOBILES, TRUCKS AND TRACTORS

ONLY IMPERIAL OIL USES ALL FOUR of these modern scientific refining processes in the manufacture of the new Marvelube

Other refiners use one or more of these processes but not all of them.

Vacuum Distillation—separates gummy black substances from the oil, which, in an engine, cause heavy carbon deposits.

Phenol Solvent Refining—removes undesirable materials from the lubricating oil, the presence of which causes oil to sludge very badly.

Solvent Dewaxing—separates the wax from the oil, permitting it to flow freely at low temperatures which, in turn, allows the engine to turn over easily in cold weather.

Clay Contact Treatment—gives the oil its final polish and removes the last trace of impurities ensuring the production of an oil of highest quality.

"No Mercy" Is the Order

General Von Falkenorst, commander of the Nazi troops in Norway, issued a proclamation to inform the Norwegians they will be punished by death if they resist his forces. His soldiers, he said, would show no mercy "if the people continue their resistance".

This is first-hand testimony that the people of Norway have recovered from the paralyzing shock of the treacherous attack made upon them and are offering both stout and effective resistance to the invaders. That the threat will break their spirit no one but a Nazi bully could imagine. Knowing what has happened in Poland and Czechoslovakia, the Norwegians know they may as well die fighting as live under Hitler rule.

Those who do not show mercy can expect none. In proclaiming barbaric war against the defenders of their country, the General invites these to make war without mercy upon his troops. With him rests the responsibility for what may follow. If isolated detachments of German troops in Norway are annihilated by the enraged populace, that will be because the threat of their commander has driven a humane people to fury.

Forging Ahead

The development of the Commonwealth Air Training scheme is driving steadily ahead, and with gathering momentum. Tenders were called last week for putting in shape air ports at Penhold, Airdrie, Calgary, Regina, and Osler, Saskatchewan. On Saturday 472 students were graduated at the school at St. Thomas, Ont., who will be distributed as groundsmen at the training centres, while 1,800 cadets were in line at the ceremony. This indicates the progress that is being made in building up the force of technicians and others who will be required for instruction work and to take care of the equipment.

In a matter of weeks the training of pilots, observers and gunners will be actively under way at many points, and by the close of summer a steady and growing "stream" of these will be completing their courses and proceeding oversea as required.

The inference may be drawn that the initial difficulty of obtaining machines for instruction work has been or is being rapidly overtaken and that as the schools open there will be planes on hand for the students to use. With the urgent demand for planes in Britain and France this difficulty has no doubt been a serious handicap, and until it was met by a speeding up of construction in Canada and elsewhere the training scheme could not make rapid progress.

Making Ready

The Auto and Good Roads Association is planning to put Edmonton's auto camp in readiness for the summer traffic. Fifteen new cottages are to be built, the old ones renovated, and the premises otherwise improved. These changes will provide more than fifty per cent increase in cabin accommodation, which is not an extravagant estimate of the requirements as nearly 12,000 motorists stopped at the camp last year. The outlook is for a substantially larger number this year, due to improved times, the practical cessation of holiday trips to Europe, and the opportunity presented to United States tourists to "get more" for their money by coming to Canada for their vacations.

Unless all predictions have been wrong, the Dominion will set up new records this year in the entertainment of paying guests from south of the border. And as the exchange disequilibrium which makes it to the advantage of United States tourists to come to Canada makes it equally to the advantage of Canadian holiday-seekers to do their touring at home, it may be supposed there will be a larger than usual movement of Canadian vacationists within Canada.

Edmonton should get its share of this larger traffic, and this is the time to make preparations to house the visitors and supply them with their requirements; here as elsewhere. While the heavy motorist movement through Alberta may be westward from Calgary, over the Trans-Canada and the Lake Louise-Jasper highways, a good many of these highway tourists will no doubt visit Edmonton, either in side-trips, or going to or returning from Jasper.

On the Offensive

British naval forces are reported officially to have laid a mine field from the entrance to the Kiel canal across the southern end of the Baltic Sea to the territorial waters of Lithuania.

This changes the whole character of the operations on the Scandinavian front. Hitherto the Allied forces have been on the defensive there, the object being to halt the Nazi conquest of Norway. In penetrating the Baltic they took the offensive, and have planted an invisible barrier of high explosives across Germany's back road. If it can be kept intact this barrier cuts both the Nazi line of sea communications with Norway and the Baltic route by which Germany might obtain its needed supplies of Swedish iron ore. Incidentally, it throws a protective screen between the Reich and neutral Sweden.

Approaches to the ports on the German coast west of the Danish peninsula were blocked by mine fields long ago. The coastline east of that peninsula is now also barricaded. Admiral Raeder must cut lanes through these barricades, in the one area or the other, or his U-boats will be the only units in his badly diminished sea forces that can be employed. His immediate problem, however, is to get back to home ports his still unsunken warships which have been caught outside the mine fields and are now fighting or dodging Allied warships along the Norwegian coast. If these cannot get back they may as well be written off the roster.

Landsmen can little comprehend either the skill or the daring that were required to thus invade the Baltic and spread a trap along the whole enemy coast in that sea. But a glance at the map is all they need to show that both these qualities were present in the highest degree, while the importance of the achievement is obvious. The 'silent service" does not need to talk while it can do deeds like this.

Chairman Magnuson is reporting to President Roosevelt that the United States section of the International Commission favors an inland route for the proposed highway from the United States to Alaska. It is therefore early to assume that the Alberta route is out of the running, though the one already indicated as having the Commission's approval is that by way of Prince George. Next to having the highway traverse this province, the Prince George route would be most advantageous to Alberta, since it could be tapped by extending the Jasper highway and also by a westward outlet from the Peace River area.

The Passing Show

By MAX FREEDMAN

As the German Reich begins to view the cost of its campaign in Norway, with its navy reeling beneath a series of shattering blows and its land forces in Norway looking more like hostages than a conquering army, it is easy to imagine the dismay among Nazi leaders. Their vaulting plans have led them into an enterprise darkened with many difficulties and dangers. This is the first time they deviated from the grim technique of aggression they had hitherto pursued with such success. They have always struck at one victim at a time, consolidating their gains before launching out on an attack again. On this occasion, they were driven by military motives and an exaggerated sense of their strength into fighting on a hostile shore against three enemies at once and the same time—Norway, Britain and France. A heavy retribution is now being exacted by the Allies from the Reich for its act of calculated brigandage.

THE PENALTY OF AGGRESSION

Hitler cannot find much comfort in the message from Il Duce commending Germany for her battle with the British fleet. Kind words do not win battles. The deadly fire from the Royal Navy drowned out the false and feigning sentiments of Mussolini who is rather pleased, as Nazis rulers know, at seeing Germany trapped in the northern countries. As long as Germany strikes at Norway and Sweden she will cease to be a menace in the Balkans, and that is all Mussolini and the Italians are vitally concerned with, at the moment.

* * *

The military expert of the Round Table, distinguished journal of empire opinion, does not believe that Holland or Belgium is safe from a severe attack by Germany. Nor does he put much faith in the defence systems of these two nations to stem the tide of aggression, should it burst with turbulent force upon them. "The Germans have this great advantage that their opponents, in this case, have never worked out a common defensive policy, but will fall back upon their own defensive lines, the Dutch behind the inundations covering the centre of Holland, the Belgians behind the Albert canal, leaving between them a broad open lane all the way to Flushing and Antwerp."

LOW COUNTRIES STILL IN DANGER

He argues that into this breach "the German armies could make their way almost unmolested. They could then ignore the Dutch and endeavour to force the Belgian forces before French and British troops come up. If successful, they might then hope to catch our armies on the move and drive them back on the Franco-Belgian border. Alternatively, they might content themselves with mopping up Holland and remain on the defensive on the Belgian side."

This estimate is too pessimistic to be convincing. If it's as easy as all that, why didn't Hitler strike sooner, or lunge at the low countries instead of at Norway, where he knew he would feel the full strength of the British fleet?

But with Europe in ferment, and the war now moving into a grimmer phase, the attack on Holland and Belgium may be seized upon by the Nazi rulers as a moment of desperation. In that event, the western front will cease to be all quiet in a big hurry.

* * *

Naval men are beginning to write exultant stories of the state of efficiency displayed by the British navy which they say has surpassed the high traditions set up even in the last war. H.M.S. Exeter, at the time of the River Plate battle, was a year overdue for her periodic check-up, and H.M.S. Achilles had steamed some 124,000 miles since last being in dockyard. Yet, when the fateful test came, the ships were in such perfect working order that they wrote a new saga of achievement in naval history. The navy's manpower rose from 89,665 in 1932 to 133,000 in 1939. There can be no worse news for Germany.

HOW THE NAVY DOES THINGS

* * *

That veteran news analyst, Elmer Davis, tells his fellow-citizens in the United States a few plain truths about this war. Weary of the chatter in that country about there being no "moral distinction" between the Allied countries and Nazi Germany—the late Senator Borah's favorite thesis—he points out that every small state in Europe is afraid of Hitler, not of Mr. Chamberlain or M. Reynaud. They seem to recognize a moral distinction, even if the citizens of ocean-protected America do not. As Prime Minister King has said, no responsible Canadian wants to exert any pressure upon American opinion in this war. But it does one good to hear a robust American rebuke his countrymen for an attitude of moral complacency which has offended all Canadians exposed to it, whether in the blatant vulgarisms of apolled-boy Lindbergh or the suave sentiments of Senators Nye and Vandenberg.

A POINT FOR U.S. OPINION

Religion Day By Day

MAKING IT UP

"My sword is too short," said the Spartan youth.

"Add a step to it," replied the father.

That is a sound life law. Everybody comes short somewhere, therefore he must make up for it in other respects.

One person is shy; so he must be more thoughtful and thorough than others.

This person has a quick temper. While putting it under control he must cultivate consideration and friendliness.

Another is inclined to procrastinate. He should atone for this by holding himself rigidly to the duty of doing better work than others.

Whenever the sword is short, the step should be long. And always there is the comforting truth that there is One who fills out our shortcomings.

So inadequate are we in all things, O Christ, that we must look to Thee to make up what is lacking in us. Thy grace is sufficient. Amen.

Read James 1:2-11.

Dupes of Moscow

Mr. Herbert Morrison, chairman of the London County Council and one of the principal leaders of the Parliamentary Labor party of Great Britain, says that the people there who favor an "end-the-war" movement number about one per cent of the entire nation.

This is pretty nearly the irrebuttable evidence of an expert witness. Mr. Morrison asserts that recent "peace votes" among scattered labor groups in Britain are negligible in influence. He attributes them mainly to the influence of "Communists and peace-at-any-price advocates." The working people of Britain, he says, are at one with the overwhelming majority of the nation in wanting to carry on the war until "Nazism is crushed."

It is well to note what Herbert Morrison says about the influence of the Communists in the demand for peace-at-any-price now. These are the people who, whether they realize it or not, are taking their cue from Moscow.

They are the same people for whom the war, before it began and when it began, was a war against Facism, for freedom and democracy. They are the same people who suddenly discovered that it was a capitalist-imperialist war when Stalin joined up with Hitler. —Vancouver Daily Province.

What One Man Willed

At least one elementary truth about the war is re-established this morning with the first complete publication in this country of the French Yellow Book, the official selection of the diplomatic reports that poured into Paris, and into French Embassies, during the pre-war period. The documents do not, of course, cover all the ground; and it is a pity, from the historical standpoint, that the French Government has chosen to omit from its public record the story of the Munich crisis and of the Allied-Soviet negotiations of last year. Nevertheless, the Yellow Book tells unanswerably how the war came when it did, how hard the French and British strove to avert it, how hopeless were their efforts. It shows that the Allies failed because they were dealing with a man who was bent on conquest, by intimidation or by war.

For forty anguished minutes (the French Ambassador in Berlin reported on August 27, 1939), "I said everything that my heart as a man and a Frenchman could prompt to induce the Chancellor to agree to a supreme effort for a pacific settlement of the question of Danzig." The Ambassador's report must have sounded to Paris like a death-knell:

I conjured him, in the name of history and for the sake of humanity, not to thrust aside this last chance. For the peace of his conscience, I begged him, who had built an empire without shedding blood not to shed it now, not to shed the blood of soldiers nor that of women and children, without being absolutely certain that this could not be avoided. I told him that the whole body of responsibilities that he would assume toward Western civilization. . . . Perhaps I moved him; but I did not prevail. His mind was made up.

Repeatedly the Ambassador appealed for a word or a sign that would enable Polish-German negotations to begin. Repeatedly his pleas were rejected. He told Paris sadly of Hitler's own words, "'It is useless,' Herr Hitler replied to me. 'Poland would not give up Danzig and it is my will that Danzig, as one of the ports of the Reich, should return to Germany'."

It was not right or wrong, but "my will." Because one man and his fanatical advisers willed it, the darkness descended upon Europe. Because "his mind was made up," death snapped the lives of thousands of brave young men, untold miseries overwhelmed millions of civilians, and the threat of doom now overhangs an entire generation. Whoever reads these documents will understand the grim resolve of the Allied peoples that one man's will, one man's obsession, shall no longer play havoc with the lives and fortunes of mankind.—New York Times.

On This Date

By FRED WILLIAMS

When the fathers of confederation laid the foundation of the Dominion, I wonder if any one of them envisaged a time when Canada would have a foreign office of its own? Yet just that has evolved with the growth of the Dominion. For years we retained our colonial status and all correspondence between London and Ottawa was transmitted through the colonial office, or in the case of foreign countries through the British foreign office as well.

Sir John Macdonald started to remedy this by the appointment of a high commissioner for Canada in London, who became practically an ambassador. Time went on. Eventually Canada was given the right to negotiate direct with Washington but part of the red tape remained.

The development of our foreign relations reached such a point that it was found necessary to create an external affairs department, and an act creating it was passed by the House of Commons on April 16, 1909. That bill made the secretary of state, Hon. Charles Murphy, also the secretary for external affairs. Though Mr. Borden urged that rightly the service should be attached to the prime minister's office, as had been done by the commonwealth of Australia. And when he became prime minister in 1911 the first thing he did was to take over external affairs himself, and ever since it has been in charge of the head of the ministry.

Probably no department of government has been more busy these last troubled years than the external affairs, night and day, right now owing to the difference in time between London and Ottawa, its officials have had to be on duty, ready to reply at once to despatches of momentous import.

Prime Minister King has been lucky in having as his deputy of external affairs so talented and so energetic a man as Dr. L. J. Skelton, who has gathered around him a corps of experts, and has organized a diplomatic service for Canada in which politics plays no part and where merit is the only basis for promotion. Canada's foreign office is a vital link in the chain which conects Ottawa with Whitehall, the sovereignty granted by the statute of Westminster having given the branch an even greater importance than under either Sir Wilfrid Laurier or Sir Robert Borden.

Side Glances

"Feel pretty sorry for Ed. His boy went away a year ago and it's gettin' kinda pitiful to see him comin' in every day, lookin' for a letter that never comes."

Your Health — By Dr. Frank McCoy

Low blood pressure which exists without any definite disease and seems to be the outcome of a state of general weakness may often be corrected. In such cases the "cure" consists of building up a good quality of blood and developing the strength of the whole body.

The weakness is best overcome by physical culture exercises and walking. Improvement may be slow, but is certain when the patient perseveres.

Even though the general vitality may seem to be low, the best plan is to start by an eliminative treatment which will cleanse the body. I find the quickest elimination is secured by taking a short fast. During the fast, daily sponge or shower baths should be used, and also one enema daily. A five-day fast is usually of the right length for these low blood pressure patients, who may complain of headache or weakness the first day or two, but who generally note that strength is starting to return by the time they are ready to start eating.

After the fast, the patient needs a well-balanced diet, supplying only that amount of food which the body really needs and is capable of using. Eggs, Meat, dried fruits, and plenty of cooked and raw vegetables should be used. Starch, such as whole wheat bread and baked potato, may be used with the luncheon meals and will probably seem to increase the amount of energy apparently available, but I caution the patient to avoid stuffing on starches.

Milk is sometimes very helpful in the diet for low blood pressure patients, and has been called a "blood-pressure-builder." If it is used, it should be treated as a real food. The patient may take a quart for lunch, with fresh fruit or with cooked vegetables, taking an 8-ounce glassful every 15 minutes until the quart is gone. Or, the patient may use the milk in the form of an exclusive milk diet, taking a glassful every hour of the slightly warm milk, all the time he is awake, and preceding each milk feeding with a little fruit juice. If he tries this, he should take a daily enema. Most patients tire of the straight milk diet because it does not give them "anything to chew on" and they will probably be more faithful in sticking to their dietary restrictions if they use a simple, well-balanced diet.

The one necessary point for the low blood pressure patient to keep in mind is the necessity of developing increased strength. Nothing is as beneficial as long walks. I do not know of any other treatment or exercise which will have the same definite effect as walking in developing a better blood pressure. In addition to the walking, the patient should take physical culture exercises each day, starting with the easy exercises and gradually increasing the number of exercises as a gain in strength is noted.

McKenney On Bridge

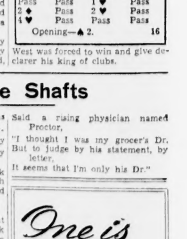

By WM. E. McKENNEY, America's Card Authority

How often do you hold the king with a small card of the suit? If the ace is in the right position, you make a trick in the suit—otherwise you lose it. Quite often, however, it is possible to get an endplay that will force your opponents to give you a trick in that suit. That is what Morry Glick of Cleveland did on today's hand.

The opening lead was won with the queen of spades, a small diamond was led and the 10-spot forced. West won with the jack and returned the jack of spades.

Declarer won with the ace, pulled a couple of rounds of trumps, cashed the ace of diamonds and ruffed a diamond.

Another trump was led to dummy and the last diamond trumped by North. A small spade was played, West was forced to win and give declarer his king of clubs.

Sunshine Shafts

The rector, walking over his sunburnt lawn, said to his old gardener, "Everything looks terribly dried up, John. I think I'll pray for rain tomorrow."

The old man replied, "Don't think me interferin', sir, but it ain't much use praying for rain with the wind in the north."

The professor had taken great pains to teach his wife to speak correctly. One day she caught him kissing the maid.

"George, I'm surprised," she said.

"Really, really, you must be more careful," replied the professor. "I am surprised. You are astonished."

The urchin terrorized the other youngsters of the neighborhood, but as yet he had failed to make any impression upon young Clarence, the son of the local squire.

One tallow-faced slob[illegible] assailed the bully to Clarence. "For a couple of pins I'd bryke yer fice." And he spat on his hands, clenched his fists, and shook them fiercely under the other boy's nose.

Clarence was unmoved.

"I shall go," he said, "and consult the lexicons in the library with reference to that word 'slob.' If I find that it has an approbrious significance, I shall return and chastise you, as becomes the son of a gentleman bound to uphold the family honor."

Said a rising physician named Proctor,
"I thought I was my grocer's Dr.
But to judge by his statement, by letter,
It seems that I'm only his Dr."

RYLEY COUPLE CELEBRATE 25TH ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Kallal were honored on Sunday afternoon at their home west of Ryley when many of their neighbors and old friends gathered in honor of their 25th wedding anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Kallal came to Canada from Illinois and were married in St. Joachim's church in Edmonton on April 13, 1915. They have lived in the district since, making a host of friends. They have six sons and three daughters.

Father Schmeltzer, of Tofield, acted as chairman and a delightful program was enjoyed, after which the honored guests were presented with a chest of flat silver from their friends as a token of the esteem in which they are held in the district. A delicious lunch was served. The bride cut the three-tier wedding cake and served a piece to all.

The snow which recently fell is melting rapidly and taken are to be seen everywhere. Country roads are worse than in many years—almost impassable with any sort of conveyance.

HANNA

The well to be used in connection with the water system for Hanna will be completed within a few days. It will have a depth of slightly over 100 feet. The drilling company has guaranteed a supply of 50 gallons per minute.

During the past week the physical training class under the Youth Training Movement gave a demonstration in the Memorial hall which pleased the large crowd attending.

The High School Dramatic society staged two plays in the Memorial hall Friday, before a good sized audience. Both plays were well acted and Miss Janet Cook and the pupils received congratulations.

ALSASK

Warm weather is melting snow which has drifted to a depth of six feet in places during the past few weeks. Residents found it difficult to travel in the district before snowplows cleared roads. The heavy fall isolated Alsask as far as highway travel is concerned and it is expected it will be a week or more before the roads are fit for travel.

DEWBERRY

One of Dewberry's earliest settlers, Michael Kinshella, passed away at the Islay hospital on Monday morning. Although the deceased had been in failing health for the past year or two, he had not required any medical attention until a few days before his death, which came as a surprise to the community. He is survived by his wife, seven sons and one daughter, all residents of the Dewberry district except one son, Henry, who lives at Detroit, Mich.

ANDREW

After a most successful curling season the members elected the executive for the 1940-41 season last Friday. L. J. Kostash was elected president, Paul Lesiuk vice-president, Peter Mcmillan, secretary-treasurer. The new board of directors consists of Peter Sereba, Michael Slabada, Joe Hoffman and Mike Jerwak.

VIKING

The high school band gave a dance Friday evening under the leadership of Wm. Elliott. The Glee club and Dramatic club assisted in the program which was well attended.

The curlers held their annual meeting and banquet and elected the following officers: President, W. Talmaurice; vice-president, W. Comisarow; secretary-treasurer, A. E. F. Cary; executive member, Clem Loughlin. The club wound up with $100 to the good after the season's expenses had been paid.

Late spring with its heavy snowfall has delayed spring work. The fields are still covered with snow. Roads are almost impassable in places. Sloughs and pot-holes are filling up, which is an indication of good moisture content which will commences in earnest at the end of this month.

W. C. Bissell, local Hereford breeder, has arrived home from the Calgary spring sale, where he sold four young bulls at good prices. Mr. Bissell was elected president of the Provincial Hereford Breeders' Association.

The Golf club held a dance to raise the ancient egress in this community, and improve the grounds east of town. The boys have begun to get out and try the course but snowballing is more reasonable just now.

The Viking symphony orchestra is rehearsing for their concert to be given the end of this month.

The men of the United church are holding a "flap-jack feed" on Wednesday and doing the work themselves. The public is waiting for the big gastronomical treat.

BENTON STATION

Victor Thurston, 12, won the silver trophy at the Amateur Night contest held for the Benton Girls' Drum and Bugle band recently. E. L. Pittman, grain buyer, at the Pioneer Elevator Co., and the prize was presented by Mr. Oldfire Coal Co., of Regina. Judges were R. H. Newell, Miss Mary L. Edier, teacher at Wavy Plain, and Mrs. Sowerby. Jack Cresswell had coached Victor, whose recitation was "Automobubbles." The contest was followed by a dance with the music furnished by the Benton orchestra, composed of Mr. and Mrs. W. Colwell and E. L. Pittman. About 25 people came to the dance on the midnight train from Sibbald and returned on the morning train.

Mrs. Ben Shaw has returned from Northern Alberta where she has been visiting for a month with her son, Ray Shaw, and his family at Wembley.

Mrs. L. Shannon stopped at Benton on her way to Acadia Valley. She has been in Vancouver during the cold weather.

150 Delegates Visit Nazarene Church Parley

RED DEER

The annual convention of the Alberta District Assembly of the Church of the Nazarene held at Red Deer was one of the most successful in the history of the church in this province. About 150 delegates and visitors attended and general chairman of the assembly was Dr. H. V. Millar, of Nampa, Idaho, he took the place of Dr. J. W. Goodwin, of Kansas City, prevented by illness from attending.

The District Young People's Society held a two days meeting before the assembly opened with Rev. C. Helen Mooshian, Calgary, president of the Y.P.S. presiding. Officers elected were: president, Rev. C. Helen Mooshian, re-elected; first vice-president, George MacDonald, Harmattan; second vice-president, E. L. Miller, Delburne; third vice-president, Miss Doris Comfort, Red Deer; secretary, Miss Merle Hunt, Nobleford; treasurer, Mrs. Angus Maclean, Red Deer.

Substantial increases in membership were reported during sessions of the assembly. Four new churches had been opened, one at High River, one at Aspen Beach and two in the Peace River district. Finances were satisfactory.

Dr. Miller conducted two special services during the week; one was the dedication service for ministers' children and the other was an ordination service. The ordination class of seven ministers and one deaconess was the largest in the history of the assembly. Two women. Miss Margaret Wiley, Red Deer, and Miss Opal Phillips, High River, and five men, Thos. J. Crawford, Aspen Beach; Ivan Golding, Dapp; George MacDonald, Harmattan; S. E. Hall, Peace River, and John A. Theroa, Claresholm, were the ministers, and the deaconess was Miss Lexie Webster, Hart River.

Rev. B. H. Bailey, Lethbridge, was re-elected chairman of the church school board, and Mrs. O. E. Bean, of Ferintosh, was re-elected president of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society.

Rev. D. Swarth was re-elected district superintendent; Rev. A. H. Eggleton, Stettler, was re-elected district secretary, and Rev. Joseph Gray, Red Deer, was re-elected district treasurer. The evangelism board is Rev. D. Swarth, chairman; Rev. A. G. Jeffries, Edmonton; Rev. Joseph Gray, Red Deer; Rev. W. Collins, Calgary, and K. R. Hunt-Nobleford.

U. S. STOPPING SHIPS EN ROUTE TO SCANDINAVIA

NEW YORK, April 16.—A United States freighter carrying a half-dozen swift American pursuit planes originally consigned to Sweden was on its way back to New York from mid-Atlantic last night, retracing its route by order of its owners.

Another ship which left New York for Bergen, Norway, April 7, turned about 600 miles out of New York and docked here last Friday with another half-dozen planes, bearing Swedish wing markings, on its holds.

That the war in Scandinavia has posed a tricky problem in deliveries of United States airplanes for both Norway and Sweden was indicated by the fact that a Norwegian purchasing mission has arrived at no decision on shipment of planes already contracted for.

While the Norwegian purchasing mission, of which Bernt Balchen, noted flier, is a member, declined to say whether the unspecified number of American planes it had on order would be shipped by way of England, it appeared probable that that would be the final decision.

CROMWELL TO RUN FOR SEAT IN U. S. SENATE

MONTREAL, April 16.—James H. R. Cromwell, United States minister to Canada, told reporters here yesterday that "all being well I intend announcing my intentions to be a candidate for the senate from New Jersey on Wednesday."

Mr. Cromwell made the statement as he arrived from Ottawa to deliver an address before the Canadian Club here.

He said he did not expect if he was successful in the election it would make any difference to his post as minister to Canada.

Asked for an opinion on the German invasion of Norway and Denmark, Mr. Cromwell replied:

"My views on the European situation have not changed in the slightest. I think you know what they are."

Mr. Cromwell told the newsmen he would visit Vancouver this June in an official capacity. He did not elaborate on the statement.

The adjutant is Captain J. K. M. Flexman of Calgary, who recently has been stationed in Halifax.

Tories Re-Build In Dominion Soon, States Chairman

WINDSOR, Ont., April 16—John R. MacNicol, chairman of the National Conservative Association, in an interview Saturday said he was busy rebuilding of the federal Conservative organization throughout Canada "very shortly."

"There is no official talk about a convention but I haven't a bit of doubt whatever that we must reorganization of the party very shortly," he said. "We'll rebuild the organization right across the county."

Souvenir

A member of the army of Finnish workers that is cleaning up the debris left by the war with Soviet Russia, is shown carrying a big aerial bomb—one that was dropped near Helsinki by a Red warplane. The bomb and hundreds of others like it will be melted down for its scrap to aid in the Finnish work of reconstruction.

INDIANS FIGHT ESTABLISHMENT OF AIR SCHOOL

BRANTFORD, Ont., April 16—William Smith, appointed spokesman by other Six Nations Indians, said yesterday he has protested to the department of national defence, the department of justice and the department of Indian affairs against a plan for establishment of an air training field on the Six Nations reservation near here.

Smith said the Dominion government seeks several hundred acres of land for use in connection with its commonwealth air training plan as a rental of $3 an acre for the duration of the war and for three years afterward, at the end of which it would be returned to the Indians.

The Indians' arguments is not against the air training plan but against the Haldimand Treaty which set aside 1,000,000 acres of land for the Indians. Smith said, declaring that only 40,000 acres still belongs to them.

COAST CITY FOLK PREFER USING GUTTER

British United Press

VANCOUVER, B.C., April 16—Vancouver's citizens just aren't going to be pushed around, members of the local white wing squad, after conclusion of a six-month dealings with the city by the scavenging service.

Local residents just won't learn to use the receptacles installed and placed about the streets last autumn, said members of the "dawn patrol."

"We get very little refuse out of them," said one worker. "People seem to prefer he gutter."

Norwegian Ships Enter U.S. Port To Await Orders

NORFOLK, Va., April 16. — Ten Norwegian vessels, including the whale oil refinery Suderoy carrying an estimated 12,000-ton cargo valued at approximately $1,750,000, put into Hampton Roads yesterday without definite orders as to their future movements.

The Suderoy, one of the largest type of whalers fully equipped for extracting whale oil, is said to be taken her cargo into Curacao in the Dutch West Indies, but received wireless instructions to proceed here and await further orders.

If the world's temperature were lowered but 10 degrees, for the year 'round, another Ice Age would result.

NAZIS SUFFER FROM LOSS OF SWEDISH IRON

Greater Blow Than British Loss Of Denmark's Farm Produce

LONDON, April 16.— Germany will suffer more fundamentally from loss of Swedish iron ore than Britain will from the loss of Denmark's bacon and butter, economic experts said here last night.

Loss of the high-quality ore from Sweden's mines will force Germany to collect every scrap of metal it can spare from its own plants and railroads. Machines may have to be broken down, rails torn up and buildings razed for their girders to retrieve metal needed for the war machine.

IMPORTANT TO STEEL

Swedish ore represents only one-fourth of Germany's needs, but it is the most important, fourth—the proportion of high-grade ore that has to be compounded with the lower-grade Germany ores to produce the finest steel.

Difficulties created for Britain by German occupation of Denmark on the other hand, are of a secondary order and have already been largely overcome. According to a spokesman for the food ministry, supplies on hand in refrigerated storehouses are sufficient to exclusion any disquiet for the immediate future.

Imports from Canada, Eire and other sections of the Empire have already begun to increase, it was stated.

In 1938 Denmark and Sweden supplied Britain with 32 per cent of her bacon and 27 per cent of her butter. Norway provided Britain with 6.6 per cent of her fish.

BIG COAL BUSINESS

Coal exporters are taking advantage of numerous opportunities offered by the blockade of German exports. Wales and other export districts are flooded with orders, ships are awaiting cargoes, and more production is needed to cope with this situation.

Countries deprived of German supplies, including France, Italy, South and Central Africa, Egypt and Portugal, are now looking to Britain to make good the shortage.

Plans are expected to be drawn up to reopen idle mines and establish reserve dumps.

FRENCH PAPER PRAISES NORTH NAVAL SUCCESS

PARIS, April 16—"The naval operations undertaken by the Allies in northern waters constitute one of the most remarkable exploits possible in the war at sea," said Le Temps in an editorial today.

"The remarkable exploits of the British navy have put a definitive end to the legend of the invincibility of the new Germany," Le Temps said.

Germany has encountered its first defeat, in Norway, said the Journal Des Debats. "It will seek success elsewhere—on the Dutch-Belgian border or in the Balkans."

"When Germany has received sufficient lessons," he said, "and the people realize the folly of their leaders, it will collapse. That day is not near. But it is a sign full of significance that the leaders of the Reich have not dared tell the German public the truth about the events in the north."

Canadian Airmen Will Wear Khaki Drill In Summer

OTTAWA, April 16. — Canada's men in air force blue will change to khaki drill for the summer months.

The Royal Canadian Air Force, it was learned yesterday, considered the idea of lightweight summer clothing for airmen, but decided finally to stay with the regulation khaki worn by the air force in past years.

This uniform will be the same color and texture as that adopted by the Canadian Active Service Force for summer wear but the R.C.A.F. summer uniforms will be cut on the same lines as the blue uniforms.

JUST A FEW DROPS RELIEVE HEAD COLD STUFFINESS AND MISERY

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas blocks up your stomach. You get constipated. Harmful poisons go into the body, and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

A mere bowel movement doesn't always get at the cause. You need something that works on the liver as well. It takes three good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and at 'em." Harmless as pansies, they make the bile flow freely. They do the work of calomel but have no calomel or mercury in them. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. Stubbornly refuse anything else. Ete.

Canadian Club Speaker Urges Good Humor And Wit As Pattern For Life

ADVOCATING the spread and infusion of the gospel of good humor and kindly wit and laughter into all situations and aspects of life, Rev. C. B. Armour, M.A., of Toronto, gave his hearers at the Women's Canadian Club tea in the Macdonald hotel on Monday afternoon a sparkling word picture of folk and places he had remembered in the great motherland of wit and humor, Ireland.

His subject was "Recollections of Irish Places and Persons," and he was introduced by Mrs. W. J. Melrose, president of the club.

Seated at the head table were Mrs. Melrose and Mr. Armour, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Sterne, Mrs. Robert Pelcher, Mrs. R. J. Russell, Mrs. J. E. Carmichael and Mrs. E. L. Fuller.

LAUGHTER A TONIC

Laughter as a tonic, good for the soul of individuals and countries alike, and humor to serve as a gentle reminder that there is still much of the good left in men in the world, were two of the remedies Mr. Armour suggested for the seriousness of today. "Brace yourselves for the days to come, for the months when we shall still be at war, by keeping your wit and sense of humor in those present days," said Mr. Armour.

"If God has given you neither wit nor humor, pretend to appreciate it in others," he said. "And if," he said merrily, "you are one of the folk who tell the most interesting and humorous stories in the world, and your listener does not laugh when you are through, be thankful that you can see a joke, even if he cannot. There is something of the Divine in humor and wit, and something that will cheer immeasurably the world, and make it a more pleasant place to live in," he said.

200 YEARS

Born in the little Irish town of Ballymoney, of a race that has been in Ireland, "off and on for the past three hundred years" Mr. Armour first saw the world from the windows of a Presbyterian manse in a town that was known throughout the district for its many churches. Evangelists and travelers came to the town and went, he said, but the town remained through all, itself, recapturing its olden glory. After the evangelists and travelers had left.

In a town of thatched roofs, old muddy streets, whose principal thoroughfare, said Mr. Armour, in 1641, outside people had little reason to believe they could change it.

NO DEFERENCE

No matter how great people were in the outer, wider world, they were just towns-folk in Ballymoney, said Mr. Armour, for no deference was shown to high degree, no respect given to money or power. In proof of how little money or high degree meant to Ballymoney folk, Mr. Armour recalled the great event that went bankrupt because he didn't remove his cronies from the bags of meal and supplies when shoppers came in to buy, fearing that he might interrupt the run of conversation; the preacher, who, annoyed at some action of the then Prince of Wales, prayed in his Sunday morning prayers the Divine blessing upon the King and Queen, the Army and Navy, the reserve forces, the judges of the land, the governor, "those in authority over us," the widows and the orphans and the heathens, saying finally, "Oh, Lord, if it be not too much to ask, bless also this week the Prince of Wales!"

Belfast, to which excursions were existing occasional events, is the pattern from which Toronto is taken. Residents of Belfast as those of Toronto say, "Isn't it fortunate that we live in Belfast!" Belfast folk are polite to a painful degree, its streets are old and story-laden, and a fitting jewel in the ordered north of Ireland.

WEST AND SOUTH

Of the west and south towns where he lived during his early life, Portrush, Portstewart, Portlaw, and Dunfannon and the great city of Dublin, Mr. Armour had many pleasant little anecdotes to relate for the pleasure of his listeners, many characters to introduce. "In the church in Duncannon," he said, "there were 40 of us Protestants in all, and we could always expect a full congregation. If any one was absent we all knew about it, and usually found out just why he was absent. No matter how good the sermon was to be, there could be more than 40 pairs of ears to hear it. There was no use in advertising our services, only 40 people would be interested, and only 40 come."

Dublin, with its individual beauty, where is spoken the best English in the three countries of the British Isles, has a deep and abiding charm for Mr. Armour and one he shared with his listeners. Humorous incidents in which Irish lawyers and great churchmen figured all were included in the address.

CANADIAN WIT

Ireland, with its wealth of humor, has influenced Canada greatly, said Mr. Armour. "As I travel here and there over Canada I am conscious of the fact that we are cultivating a humor distinctly Canadian and one that is of a high order. Humor and wit marks a high place of attainment in a country and we may be thankful that a fine and healthy Canadian wit is emerging," he said in conclusion.

Lovely Glass Painting Fun and Simple To Do

Follow Design Put Under Glass

"Roses and Cottage Tulips!" Imagine this picture in vivid colors, in its full size—9 by 12 inches. And you can easily paint it yourself—other subjects too.

Just lay a sheet of glass over a printed pattern and follow the design with your brush.

With three tubes of colors you can mix all the shades you require. A color chart shows you how. And by adding a touch of black or white household enamel you darken or lighten a shade.

For the tulips, use purple and yellow—for the roses, shades of pink, orange, yellow and red. When the painting is finished, slip a piece of colored paper behind the glass for a background, frame—and admire your handiwork!

Our set "Four Designs for Paintings on Glass," including "Roses and Cottage Tulips," "China Clipper," "Tropical Birds" and "Moonlight in Venice"—each 9 by 12 inches. Tells what colors to use; has chart showing how to mix paints.

Send 18c in coins for our set of "Four Designs For Paintings On Glass" to The Edmonton Bulletin, Home Service, Edmonton, Alberta. Be sure to write plainly your name, address and the name of picture set.

Ham, Chicken Make Salads Tasty

By MRS. GAYNOR MADDOX

There can be more to a salad than refreshing greens. Chicken and ham, beans, cheese and fish can be added to turn this touch of the garden into a satisfactory meal. Try these recipes:

CHICKEN AND HAM SALAD
(Serves four to six)

One and one-fourth cups cooked chicken, ¾ cup diced boiled ham, salt, pepper, 1 cup diced celery, ½ cup French dressing, lettuce, ½ cup mayonnaise.

The chicken should be free from skin, fat, and gristle, and should be cut in cubes ½ to ¾ inch in size. For special occasions white meat alone is used. Sprinkle meat with salt and pepper, add celery and French dressing, and let chill half an hour or more. Serve on platter in lettuce cups and garnish with mayonnaise.

COTTAGE CHEESE SALAD
(Serves four to six)

One pound cottage cheese, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons minced onion or chopped chives, 1 tablespoon minced parsley, 1 tablespoon chopped sweet pickles, paprika, salad greens, French dressing.

Mix cottage cheese with salt, onion or chives and parsley. If cheese is dry moisten with sweet or sour cream. Pack in small bowl and chill half an hour or more. Unmold on large plate, sprinkle with paprika and surround with salad greens. Sprinkle greens with French dressing.

For luncheon on a warm day, try this:

BANANA SALAD
(Serves four to six)

Three ripe bananas, ½ cup mayonnaise, ¾ cup sliced pecans, lettuce. Peel bananas and slice in half lengthwise. Arrange on beds of crips lettuce. Garnish with light mayonnaise. Sprinkle with sliced nuts.

Tomorrow's Menu

BREAKFAST: Stewed apricots, dry cereal, wholewheat toast, honey, coffee, milk.

LUNCHEON: Clear tomato soup, banana-nut salad, potato chips, chocolate cookies, tea, milk.

DINNER: Grapefruit juice, brown fricassee of chicken, brown rice muffins, spinach, rhubarb pie, coffee, milk.

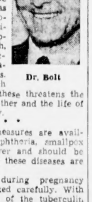

Some salads are meals in themselves.

All About Babies

By RICHARD ARTHUR BOLT M. D., D. P. H.
Secretary, Maternal and Child Health Section of American Public Health Association

Any serious conditions which affect the health of a prospective mother may affect the health of her baby. For nine months before birth the prospective mother completely envelops and protects the developing baby. Everything the mother does directly or indirectly affects the child's welfare as the mother provides for nutrition, oxygen supply, warmth, physical protection and elimination of wastes. Anything which interferes with these threatens the health of the mother and the life of the unborn baby.

Dr. Bolt

Immunizing measures are available against diphtheria, smallpox and typhoid fever and should be employed where these diseases are prevalent.

Tuberculosis during pregnancy should be checked carefully. With the modern use of the tuberculin test and X-ray examinations, it is now possible to do this, and a newborn baby should be removed immediately from the mother if she has tuberculosis, and reared apart from her.

We should by all means give every prospective mother the benefit of a blood test and if positive for syphilis, place her under intensive treatment as early in pregnancy as possible.

There are other conditions that threaten the health of the mother and the life of the unborn baby. Any form of poisoning such as lead, mercury, carbon monoxide, etc., is especially harmful. No drugs should be taken during pregnancy except upon the prescription of a physician.

Certain conditions known as the toxaemias of pregnancy may come on slowly and prove to be very serious in their outcome. The danger signs which usually manifest themselves early or late are such symptoms as nausea and persistent vomiting, dizziness, swelling of the hand and face, increased blood pressure and changes in the urine. If these are observed early and brought to the attention of the doctor, much may be done to prevent serious complications.

Mothers with chronic disease of heart, kidneys or lungs are exposed to especial dangers during pregnancy. They should receive extra attention at the hands of their physicians. Mothers suffering from any disorder of the ductless glands such as diabetes or thyroid disease need special treatment while carrying the baby as these conditions may influence its growth and development.

If the expectant mother is in the hands of a competent physician during pregnancy and follows his directions implicitly, there is little danger that she will fall into any of the pitfalls mentioned in this article. She will not only remain healthy herself but will give birth to a normal, healthy baby.

Humble Scrubbing Brush Is Important Beauty Aid

By ALICIA HART

Elbows need attention these days. At any moment now you'll have to give up the spring suit which hides them so completely and get into short-sleeved silk and cotton dresses which won't hide them at all.

Begin to eliminate the rough or, worse yet, downright scaly look, which your elbows acquired during cold winter months by resolving to scrub them at least once a day.

THOROUGH SCRUBBING IS IN ORDER

The simplest way to carry out this resolution is to use a bath brush as well as a rough wash cloth in your tub. One smart woman we know places nail, bath and complexion brushes in a little tray which fits across the tub and uses each during her bath.

First, she scrubs her face. Then, leaning forward she turns on the faucet and gets some clear water for rinsing. She dries her face carefully, covers it with night cream and leaves the cream on while she finishes her bath.

She uses the long-handled bath brush to scrub her back, shoulders, elbows, knees and feet; the nail brush to remove the day's grime from hands and under fingernails. Once a week, she puts a piece of pumice in the tray with the brushes and uses it to discourage callouses on heels and soles of feet.

CREAM ELBOWS AND KNEES

In addition to a daily scrubbing with a brush and plenty of soap suds, elbows need to be creamed regularly during the late spring months. Use a special bleaching elbow cream for the purpose. Or, if they are in particularly rough condition, massage some of your regular softening cream into them several nights a week.

Remember that plain lemon juice is an excellent bleach for elbows. And that they'll be more attractive during daytime hours if you use foundation film and face powder on them.

London Actor Suggests Speaking School For Canadian Politicians

KITCHENER, Ont., April 16—A speaking school for Canadian politicians was suggested in an address before a meeting of the Western Ontario Drama League here Saturday by Robertson Davies, a Canadian who is a member of the Old Vic Theatre Company in London, England.

Mr. Davies, son of Rupert Davies of Kingston, president of the Eastern Ontario region of the Dominion Drama Festival, said he arrived in Canada at the time of the federal election campaign and found "much of what was said extraordinarily difficult to follow without intense boredom." "The politicians appeared to lack the knack of how to say a thing and get it across. Political doctrine would be more understandable if there were not such bad pronunciation, poor diction and lamentable voice production.

"I am not sure but that there should be a school for politicians and that they should be required to have a diploma. It is a distinctly Canadian fault to neglect that aspect of life, to speak in public with insufficient style."

What To Do

When a fellow calls on a girl friend how should he approach her and greet her? After a fellow has taken his girl friend for an auto ride, should he get out and go around the car to open the door for her and offer to help her out, and how should he depart after she is out of the car? Should a boy call his girl friend by telephone? These questions apply to a girl and boy between the ages of 17 and 20 years.

LEWIS E.

Answer: The girl usually gets the meeting off to a good start by extending her hand and greeting the fellow cordially when he arrives. A perfectly natural remark for him would be, "Good evening. Mary! How nice to see you again." Yes, indeed, a fellow should always get out of the car, walk around and open the door and assist the girl getting out. He then escorts her to the door of her home, telling her how much he enjoyed the evening as he leaves. Today most invitations are extended over the telephone, so whenever you wish to make a date call the girl on the phone and ask if she would like to go to the movies or out dancing the evening. This gives her an opportunity to accept or refuse then and there.

The United States army has nearly three times as many ships as the United States navy, according to recent figures of the government. The army operate 3,251 vessels of various types, while the navy has only about 1,200. Most of the army's ships are smaller than the navy's, but among them are three enormous transports of 13,726 tons each. Army engineers operate nearly 3,000 boats, chiefly to keep navigation channels in condition. The Quartermaster Corps has 395 vessels, and the others are operated by the Coast Artillery, Air Corps, etc.

DOROTHY DIX Says:

Dear Miss Dix: I am a young man of 23 and I am in love with a girl, but I am still in college and will not be financially able to marry for several years. Shall I marry her and give up the profession I have been fitting myself for and take any job I can get? I worship her, but my desire for success is almost as great as my love. What shall I do?

JOHN A.

Answer:

My earnest advice to you is to put off matrimony and go on with your education. Love will wait, but opportunity does not tarry. If you give up your chance now to go into the profession you have thought about all your life it is gone forever. You will have to descend to a lower level of living. You will have to take any work you can get that will make a support for a family instead of doing the thing your heart is in.

In the struggle between love and ambition love may win the first round, but ambition always scores the final knockout. I have known many men and women who have given up their careers to marry some one with whom they thought they were in love, but I have known very few of these marriages to turn out well. Nearly always the love was killed by balked ambition.

Do not think that you are showing the girl what a great lover you are by giving up your career in order to marry her. A finer proof of devotion would be to go on and make yourself worthy of her by proving that you have enough strength and manhood to control your passions and achieve a success that is worthy of her acceptance.

"All for love and the world well lost" is a fine, resounding, poetic slogan for the sentimental, but it doesn't bear the test of everyday, actual experience. The grand passion cannot live on air, and it is sadly true that romance has to be financed. Only those marriages are happy in which people can go on living pretty much as they used to do before they were married and in which they can carry out their plan of life.

So put marriage out of your thoughts until you are ready for it. If your girl doesn't love you well enough to wait for you, she is small loss. And if she isn't interested enough in your ambitions to sacrifice something for them, she would make a poor wife, anyway.

Broomhall

The general rains in the Argentine last week came at a very appropriate time as the soil was too dry for plowing and seeding. Our agent had predicted last March that farmers would plant increased areas to wheat, linseed, oats, barley and rye if generous rains came soon to soften the soil. Farmers in the Argentine are optimists and expect good price next January with the war conditions forcing importers to consume emergency supplies and to need large imports from overseas next year. The larger world's stocks are expected to be reduced by next season wit hthe unfavorable prospects in the United States and in many sections of Europe. The U. S. winter wheat belt enjoyed spring weather over week-end following cold wave of last week. Summer heat was experienced in some localities which will dry out the soil and the outlook for the Panhandle of Texas and Oklahoma also the southwest of Kansas is none too good and will need ideal conditions to make a crop this season. This is an important hard winter wheat section of the country and will need watching closely, for a crop failure here will cut dow the total production of hard wheat immenseely.

Dowsers Okayed

LONDON, April 16—"Dowsers"—operators of divining rods which find water and oil beneath the surface—have received the blessing of two scientists of the Royal Society of Arts, J. Cecil Maby and T. Bedford Franklin, after 10 years of study, have proclaimed the "seeds of genuine science" in divining.

TEXAS BROKER NEAR FREEDOM IN EXTRADITION

CALGARY, April 16—Since last August, Edward P. Lamarr, Texas broker, has faced the prospect of being extradited from Calgary to the United States where serious charges have been laid against him.

Today, it appeared that Lamarr might have won his fight to remain in Canada.

John S. Mavor, K.C., counsel for the American government in the Lamarr case, said he was awaiting instructions from the attorney general of the United States as to whether he should proceed further against the Texan.

Recently, Mr. Justice W. R. Howson ruled that Lamarr could not be extradited to the United States on a charge of having obtained money by virtue of untrue statements of material facts through the mails. His Lordship pointed out that this offence was not included in the Extradition Act or in the extradition treaty between Canada and the United States.

SOLDIER SWEETS REPLACE SMOKES

LONDON, April 16. — One body that is staunchly refusing to add to the huge quantities of cigarettes going to the troops at the front is the National Society of Non-Smokers. Under the guidance of Lady Astor, M.P., and F. J. Phillips, the founder-secretary, the society does not actively rampage against the cargoes of smokes, but instead sends formidable consignments of sweets and chocolates to the boys.

The growth of sweet-eating among men is one of the unexpected consequences of the war here. Other changes noted by social observers recently are:

Heavier shoes among men, and not only among soldiers.

An enormous increase in bad language, not confined to the army.

The longer times spent sitting in restaurants by young men and women.

A decline in the demand for cold ham.

Mexico's Mysterious Sphinx

Origin of this giant stone head and four similar ones is puzzling archeologists of the joint National Geographic Society and Smithsonian Institution expedition in Mexico. The head, skillfully carved from basalt, is eight feet high, twenty feet in circumference and weighs twenty tones. The heads were found on a swampy plain of Mexico's gulf coast, 100 miles from the nearest source of basalt.

Heroic Woman in 84-Mile Horse Back Ride Saves Ill Son

British United Press Exclusive Cable to The Edmonton Bulletin

DARWIN, Australia, April 16.—Few mothers have had a more terrifying ordeal than that experienced by Mrs. Jack Wright of Mount Oxide in Northwest Queensland, when her six-year-old son, John, was taken ill with appendicitis.

Two days earlier Wright and his daughter had gone to Dobbyn, a town 84 miles away, for provisions, leaving Mrs. Wright and her son alone at their farm.

When the boy was taken ill Mrs. Wright decided that she would have to make the journey to Dobbyn, nearest place where medical help could be obtained, rather than wait for her husband to return.

Therefore she set her sick son on a horse, wrapped in a blanket and holding him before her, started off on her 84-mile ride.

Over rugged ranges and through rain-soaked gorges the horse plodded with its double burden.

CONSTANT RAINS

Rain fell almost continuously, making the tracks sodden and muddy and flooding the creeks which had to be crossed.

On the first night out Mrs. Wright got what shelter she could for her son in a small cave on the side of a hill, but the boy moaned in agony all night. The next night, at sunset, she had reached Gunpowder creek, the half-way mark, and had to wait until daybreak before fording the flooded stream.

The next morning she swam the horse across the stream and after a day of hard going reached Surprise creek, another swollen stream.

NO SHELTER

There was no shelter at all there but with the saddle for a pillow and a soaked saddle-cloth for a blanket she made her boy as comfortable as possible and watched beside him until dawn.

She had brought corned beef and bread with her, but was too ill from worry to eat it, and the child was so ill he could not swallow.

Daylight saw her crossing the flooded creek and she reached Dobbyn soon after midday, in the last stages of exhaustion.

Luckily the weekly train to Cloncurry had been delayed by rains and her son was put aboard. The next day, 200 miles away in Cloncurry, he was operated on just in time to save his life.

Mrs. Wright waited until she received the good news and then set out on her 84-mile ride back to Mount Oxide.

GERMAN WOMEN HELP C. A. S. F.

LONDON, April 16.—It is the war—but it works differently in the Church of All Nations here, according to a report of Rev. J. I. MacKay to the United Church Home Missions Board.

"Since the beginning of the war there has not been the slightest difficulty between any of our people. We have only had the greatest evidence of comradeship and understanding.

"We have seen Germans and Czechs working together in the friendliest fashion," the report said. "German women are knitting socks for Canadian soldiers and Russian women are giving aid to the Red Cross for Finland."

Representatives of 30 nations belong to the church. Mr. MacKay said, most of them coming to Canada to get away from war.

Scandia Banks Yield Gold To Nazi Invaders

LONDON, April 16.—Sir John Simon, Chancellor of the Exchequer, told the House of Commons today that the national banks of Denmark and Norway—both invaded by Germany—had gold reserves of £13,000,000 ($57,000,000) and between £18,000,000 and £19,000,000, respectively, according to the latest returns available.

PAPER RECALLS DUCE EAGER TO FIGHT GERMANY

PARIS, April 16. — In its "25 Years Ago Today" column, the newspaper Le Figaro today printed the following:

"April 16, 1915—227th day of the war—a great demonstration took place at Milan in favor of intervention.

"With cries of 'Down With Germany,' 'Down With Austria,' an immense crowd paraded to the popolo D'Italia where its editor, Benito Mussolini, harangued it as follows:

"'We want war!'

"'It cannot be neutralized. War on Tyranny! War on Kaiserism!' in the name of civilization and liberty!'

"'The war against Germany and Austria will be inexorable. People, workers, you must be for war'."

There are 701.3 persons to the square mile in England.

NAZIS SIDESTEP EXPLANATION OF NAVAL LOSSES

BERLIN, April 16—Asked, why German losses suffered in the naval battle at Narvik had not been announced, Nazi spokesmen today said "military reasons" made it impossible to give out full information.

They claimed that any sacrifices which had been made were worthwhile.

"We don't need any ships any more," one commentator observed, "but we'll soon show the world what we have in the way of a navy."

So far as German newspapers are concerned northern Norway apperently has ceased to exist since the British fleet closed in on Narvik.

War maps published in the Berlin papers show only southern Norway as far north as Trondheim, which is the area most stoutly held by the Germans.

MANY TONGUES BALKED CUPID

HOVE, England, April 16.—Three interpreters were required when Hove magistrates heard—and turned down—the application of 18-year-old Elisabeth Szepessy to marry Andrew Kende, 37. The girl, a Czech, could speak that language only and Kende was a Jewish Czech.

The girl's parents, whose refusal of consent to the marriage led to the court application, spoke Hungarian, although the father knew a little German. Szepessy objected to the marriage because he wished to obtain a visa to go to Canada with his daughter and felt she had no prospect if she married Kende.

Britons Now Can Keep Warmer

LONDON, April 16.—Restrictions on coal consumption were lifted slightly today by an order allowing individuals to purchase 280 pounds a week instead of 225 pounds as previously if the circumstances justified. The purchase quota on coke, anthracite and boiler fuel likewise was raised.

Italian People Against Fighting

MANCHESTER, England, April 16.—A majority of the Italian people will oppose a possible attempt by Premier Mussolini and the Fascist Party to push Italy into war on the side of Germany, the Manchester Guardian said today. The royal family and Italian general staff are against intervention, the newspaper said.

FIELD CROPS APPOINTMENTS ARE REPORTED

President Dr. Kerr Announces University Department Changes

The board of governors of the University of Alberta has appointed Dr. John Ansel Anderson of Winnipeg as professor of field crops and head of this department and Dr. J. W. Boynes of Ottawa as assistant professor of field crops, it was announced Tuesday by President W. A. R. Kerr.

Dr. Anderson, who succeeds Dr. K. W. Neatby, who resigned recently, at present is chief of the laboratory staff of the Canadian grain commission at Winnipeg, an appointment he received in 1939.

STUDIED IN EUROPE

Born in Sidcup, England, he obtained his B.Sc. in agriculture at the University of Alberta in 1926 and his M.Sc. in 1928. He spent two years in graduate study in Europe and obtained his Ph. D. at the University of Leeds in 1930.

The same year he joined the department of field crops at the University of Alberta and later went to the National Research Council in the agriculture and biology division, until last year when he received his appointment with the grain commission.

PH.D. DEGREE

Dr. Boyes was born in Sundridge, Ont., and received his B.Sc. in agriculture at the University of Saskatchewan. He obtained his Ph.D. at the University of Wisconsin. From 1926 to 1931 he was a teacher in Saskatchewan and recently has been senior research assistant at the National Research Council laboratories at Ottawa.

Both men have contributed important scientific papers on phases of agriculture to the learned journals.

POLICE LEARN IDENTITY OF AUTO VICTIM

Third victim of traffic accidents on Edmonton's Death Trail—104 avenue—has been identified as Geo. W. Dugan, 62, of the Senate rooms, which are located north of the police station on 98 street, police said Tuesday.

Dugan was killed almost instantly when he was struck by an auto allegedly driven by A. J. Currie, while walking along 104 avenue, near the 115 street intersection, ten minutes after midnight Friday.

He was identified Monday afternoon by William Boal, of the Senate rooms. Boal read the description of the dead man in The Bulletin, recalled that Dugan had not been seen since Friday night, and then told police he thought the dead man might be Dugan. Police said he recognized Dugan the moment he saw the body.

Dugan had been in the city to receive medical treatment for his feet, police said. He leaves a brother, A. H. Dugan, who farms at Coronation.

Inquest will be held Wednesday but the time is still uncertain. Currie, the driver of the auto, is facing a charge of manslaughter.

NIMBLE THIEF GETS $129 IN CANTEEN RAID

A nimble thief climbed over a door and through a transom into the canteen at the Prince of Wales armory Monday night and stole $129 from the cash drawer, Sergt. Arthur Knowles reported to the city police Tuesday. Police said their investigations had revealed that the thief had worn rubber-soled shoes and said they had obtained clear finger-prints left by the marauder. An early arrest is expected, they say.

Spring Clean-Up Being Planned

Spring clean-up likely will start May 6 and will last three weeks, it was stated Tuesday by city officials. Citizens will be asked to clean up rubbish in their own yards and lanes and frontages around their premises, while the city will place 24 extra teams of horses to haul away the refuse. Crews of rakers will be placed in service.

Moderator Coming

Moderator of the Presbyterian church in Canada, Rev. Dr. Stewart C. Parker of Toronto, will arrive in Edmonton on Friday, April 26, for a three-day visit to the city to confer with church ministers and officials here. He will preach April 28 at Presbyterian services in the city.

Trades Group Asks Immediate Action On Highway Hazard

Asserting that 104 avenue was a dangerous traffic thoroughfare, members of the Edmonton Trades and Labor Council passed a resolution Monday evening urging city council to take immediate steps to have a sidewalk constructed along this avenue.

The delegates also asked that the lighting of the street be improved, and that police supervision of the thoroughfare be intensified.

This is the second resolution asking for construction of a sidewalk on 104 avenue submitted by the Trades Council to the city commercial board. A similar resolution was submitted following a fatal accident on this street last winter. Action taken at Monday's meeting followed a fatal accident on the "Death Trail" last week when a car struck and killed a pedestrian. The driver claimed he did not see the man.

Delegates were critical of delay by city council in not having a sidewalk constructed on 104 avenue last year. It was pointed out that early in the summer representations were made to city officials of the danger of this roadway, but no action was taken to ensure safety for pedestrians. Some delegates were extremely critical of city council's failure to step up the lighting on this avenue following two fatal accidents last year.

It was pointed out also that children were in the habit of crossing the tracks at 104 avenue to get to school. This practice, delegates stated, was extremely dangerous and recommended that study be given by city council to eliminate this hazard for the children.

Completion of 111 avenue as a main traffic artery was urged by the Trades Council to relieve traffic on 104 avenue.

VOTE OF CONDOLENCE

Delegates passed a vote of condolence for the family of Mrs. S. P. Stacy, formerly of Edmonton, who died recently at San Francisco. Mrs. Stacy, mother of Mrs. Carl Berg, was a past president of the United Garment Workers of America and was for a number of years a delegate to the Trades Council.

Alfred Farmilo, secretary of the Trades Council, reported that negotiations with the city engineer's department on employees' wage schedules would be resumed April 23 next.

W. "Paddy" Griffin urged that a more generous method of sending out mail bundles be adopted at the post office. He said that when mail was heavy many letter carriers including ex-service men, were overloaded.

WATER SOFTENER

Ald. Sidney Parsons informed the council that the water softener plant would cost only $66,000, not $166,000. The figure of $140,000 was the cost of the plant and is mentioned in the main. There was no connection between the two plants, and the latter plant would have to be constructed as present basins were unable to carry the city's peak water load.

Through The Mill

As it all took place after midnight and as stories told the court were all given by interested parties, it is pretty difficult to get the whole picture and impossible to get a true one. In fact, when he passed judgment Tuesday the court expressed the opinion that somebody might well be tried for perjury.

• • •

The complainant is a grey-haired chap from out in the bush somewhere who has been hollooaying in the city, or something. His story was that he won some money playing cards in the accused, that the accused got mad and proceeded to beat him up with the end of a broom-stick. And he sported the finest crop of scars, scabs and bruises to be inspected by the court in many moons.

• • •

The accused, a young and fiery rooming house keeper, climbed into the witness box and denied the whole story. The complainant had tried to break into the room where he—the accused—and his wife were sleeping. "So I got pretty mad and pushed him out. Then when he broke down the door I pushed him down one flight of stairs and he fell all the way to the bottom. He was pretty drunk," explained the accused.

• • •

Then the wife of the accused—and a very attractive bit of fluff she was too—trotted into the witness box. Her husband didn't play cards with the guy, because there were no cards in the house. He didn't slug the guy with a broken broom because their broom wasn't broken. He just pushed the guy and he fell down stairs. "And when he had himself up he said he was going to get the police and get us both fixed," she said.

• • •

When everybody was finished the cadi smiled wryly. Then he said, "Charge dismissed with costs assessed against the complainant." So hubby and wife walked out of the court back to their little home, while the complainant dug down in his pocket and paid the bill. Who says there ain't no justice? Young love is bound to triumph!

SEAT FOR LOW IN ABEYANCE REPORT SAYS

Provincial Treasurer Retains Post Pending Final Decision

Definite decision by the provincial government on the action to be taken regarding finding a seat for Hon. Solon E. Low, provincial treasurer who was defeated in his riding of Warner in the provincial general election of March 21, is in abeyance, it was learned Tuesday.

Final decision is not expected to be made for some time and in the meantime Mr. Low will carry on.

Several names have been mentioned in connection with a success- sor should it eventually be decided that a seat will not be found for Mr. Low.

POSSIBLE TRANSFERS

Some observers feel that Hon. Ernest C. Manning, minister of trade and industry, will be shifted to the treasury, while others feel that Hon. N. E. Tanner, minister of lands and mines will be transferred. Alfred J. Hooke, M.L.A. for Red Deer, and Dr. J. L. Robinson, M.L.A. for Medicine Hat, are among others being mentioned.

However, it is believed the government will "make haste slowly" in this matter and Mr. Low is expected to carry on for several months at least. Should he fail to find a seat it is likely his services will be retained by the government in a senior civil service post.

It is suggested that John C. Landeryou, defeated New Democracy candidate in East Calgary in the Dominion general election, may be appointed to the post of superintendent of relief purchases at Calgary if the resignation of C. W. Eady is accepted by the government. Mrs. Edith Gostick, defeated Social Credit candidate in Calgary, is also suggested for the post.

ACCUSED WINS APPEAL AFTER TERM IMPOSED

Finding that the Crown had failed to prove that tools found in James Graham's car were intended for use as housebreaking implements, the Alberta appeal court Monday allowed an appeal by Graham against conviction and two-year sentence imposed on him by Mr. Justice T. M. Tweedie on a charge of being in possession of house breaking implements.

The appeal was argued by Neil D. Maclean, K.C., for the appellant and responded to by J. W. McClung, K.C., crown prosecutor.

The appeal court pointed out that the "being in possession" clause of the Criminal Code had been inserted before the use of automobiles became common. These cars all carry tool kits and it is necessary before conviction is secured that proof is submitted that the tools found in the car were to be used for housebreaking purposes.

The Inquiring Reporter

TH QUESTION

"What do you think is going to be the biggest factor in preventing the coming summer from being perfect?" asked The Bulletin Inquiring Reporter today.

THE QUESTION

ESTHER WELLES, stenographer: I heard somebody say—it were due for a plague of caterpillars, or from the amount of water lying about I'd say we'll probably have a plague of mosquitoes. Is that pessimistic enough for you?

• • •

GORDON HUNTLEY, clerk: Have you noticed that the new styles for women are featuring a military trend in their clothes. How can a fellow imagine he's in heaven if the women are all wearing uniforms? I like my gals frilled!

• • •

MARY LOWRAY, stenogrpl: I can answer that question with just one word: Hitler! The world will never be perfect until that man has been destroyed.

• • •

KENNETH MORGAN, salesman: It is quite possible that it will be a long spring which means a short summer and this will mean no crop. No crop back. No cash in Europe. That means high prices. But what good are high prices if you have nothing to sell? I feel terrible! I can get myself into the worst state!

• • •

BERT CANTELON, bookkeeper: There are lots of things that will keep this summer from being perfect. But the biggest factor will be people who go around making other folks look at the things they haven't got instead of enjoying the things they have. And if the hat fits, buddy, then put it on.

• • •

JANET HEINZ, clerk: I think the weather will be the biggest factor. Because if it's warm people will be unhappy because it is too hot. If it rains, because it is raining. Mister, Old Mother Nature just can't win. Summer is going to be Well, you know what I mean.

Court Dismisses Appeal Entered In Mishap Case

Appeal of Mrs. Gertrude Southen, administratrix of the estate of Alex K. Southen, against decision of Mr. Justice W. A. Ives awarding Mrs. Irene Campbell Belanger, Edmonton, $1,500 damages was dismissed in appeal court Tuesday. Mrs. Belanger was awarded the damages for injuries received in an accident on 82 avenue and 109 street last fall. The appeal was taken on the ground that Mrs. Belanger contributed to the accident through her negligence. The trial judge held there was no contributory negligence, and this view was upheld by the appeal court. Neal D. Maclean, K.C., appeared for Mrs. Belanger.

Pittsburgh was the first large city to have a professional football team.

Building Act Will Aid Home Projects: Is Now Proclaimed

Giving every assistance to the building of homes within this province, Hon. Ernest C. Manning, minister of trade and industry, announced Tuesday formation of a board of four senior civil service officials to supervise operation of the Building Associations Act passed at the last session of the legislature.

The act was passed through the house to come into force upon proclamation and the necessary proclamation has been passed and will be published in the next issue of the Alberta Gazette.

The board is under the chairmanship of W. D. King, deputy minister of trade and industry, and others appointee are J. F. Percival, deputy provincial treasurer; W. S. Gray, K.C., solicitor to the attorney general's department; and W. D. Stacey, superintendent of provincial buildings.

The board held its first meeting Tuesday afternoon.

PRIVATE ENTERPRISE

"We hope through the Building Associations Act to assist and encourage private enterprise to engage more extensively than hitherto in the erection of moderate-priced housing accommodation," said Mr. Manning. "We hope that the Act will serve mainly a four-fold purpose, namely to assist:

"1—To provide sorely needed houses and stop the drift toward slum conditions.

"2—That it will provide employment for citizens and no type of enterprise does this more successfully than housing. All kinds of labor, both unskilled and craftsmen are employed.

"3—It provides an outlet for large quantities of Alberta products, such as lumber, brick, stone, cement, etc.

"4—It provides an opportunity for surplus funds to be invested in one of its safest possible forms."

The act provides that any three or more persons, under the act, form themselves into a building association.

CAN INCORPORATE

Building associations may be incorporated and subscribers are admitted. Applications for shares can be obtained from the public and when the minister is satisfied that at least $10,000 of the capital stock has been subscribed and paid up, he can issue a certificate for the association to commence business.

The board appointed by Mr. Manning will examine all applications for incorporation and approve or reject same. Inquiry into the affairs of an association can be undertaken at any time. A report on various activities is to be filed with the minister every year.

Mr. Manning stated that already many builders had expressed an interest in the act and that it is expected that associations will be formed in the near future and that building will become immediately busy as this is the season when it should start.

GUARANTEE PAYMENT

"The government is authorized under the act to guarantee payment of debentures and interest on debentures issued by an association incorporated under the act. It is further provided that, except with the approval of the board, no association shall build houses previous having a value, including land, in excess of $3,500.

HERBERT INGREY NOW APPOINTED MINE INSPECTOR

Herbert E. Ingrey, Social Credit member of the last legislature for Drumheller, has been appointed inspector of mining locations for the province, Hon. N. E. Tanner, minister of lands and mines, announced Tuesday. This post has been vacant for about four years since the appointement on superannuation of P. M. Christophers, who was appointed to the post by the U.F.A. government after sitting in the house as a Labor member representing Rocky Mountain.

Mr. Ingrey's powers was appointed after the 1930 election, in which he did not run.

Mr. Ingrey, elected in 1935 and sitting for the full term, was nominated for Drumheller to contest the seat in the election of March 21 last, but retired from the field to permit G. Taylor to contest the seat for Social Credit, following some criticism directed at Mr. Ingrey from a faction of Social Credit supporters. Mr. Taylor was elected.

Mr. Ingrey's duties will include investigation of proposed mining locations including gold, coal and other minerals. He will file reports with the lands and mines department at Edmonton.

He is the first former member of the legislature to receive an appointment to the civil service since the last election. Several others are likely to receive appointments.

City Committee Requests Company To Submit New Schedule

The gas committee of city council Monday recommended to council rejection of a rate schedule submitted by Northwestern Utilities Ltd., and invited the company to make a further submission with materially lower rates, it was reported by city commissioners Tuesday.

Review of the basic rates charged Edmonton gas consumers has been proceeding under a city council committee headed by Ald. George Campbell. The committee was appointed last year following representations made by Ald. Hugh J. Macdonald, K.C., M.L.A.

The committee, asking the company to submit a revised rate schedule, passed the following resolution:

"In the light of investigations made by the committee, it is not satisfied with the proposed rate schedule offered and requests the company to submit at an early date a new schedule showing substantial reduction in rates."

K. O. CAVALIER

By Jerry Brondfield

CAST OF CHARACTERS

VAL DOUGLAS, girl sports writer, shipped on a freighter to find excitement.

EDDIE CAVALIER, a prize fighter headed for the title, has a score to settle with Val.

CAPTAIN STEVE HANSEN, skipper of the Northern Belle.

DUFFY KELSO, Cavalier's manager.

* * *

Yesterday: In a tavern in Prince Rupert, Val overhears a man report that the Northern Belle is in port. She senses trouble and when the man leaves with two companions she and Eddie follow. They are suddenly halted when someone behind them commands them to stop, backs his order with a gun.

CHAPTER XVIII

THE man with the gun waved Val and Eddie forward. "Okay, keep going just the way you're headed. I'm gonna stick this gat back in my pocket now but my finger'll be on the trigger all the time . . . if you get what I mean."

He whistled one shrill note and the four men ahead stopped and turned around.

"Look what I found tailing you guys," their captor said. He motioned his prisoners against the wall of a warehouse. One of the others snapped a flashlight beam in their faces for a moment.

"Who are they?"

"Ain't knowing but I think they got ideas they shouldn't be having," he said significantly.

The man with the flashlight, evidently the leader, nodded.

"People with ideas is to be watched. Get 'em inside here, Joe, and see they don't get into mischief. No rough stuff—boss' orders—but keep 'em tamed. Meet us at 12. You know where."

The man named Joe nodded. "Lucky I came up just when I did. But you sure you won't need me?"

"Positive. They got only six, mebbe eight, men on board and—"

Suddenly he stopped short and looked at Val in the dim light of the abandoned warehouse. "This dame here," he said slowly, "I know who she is. She's the reporter who shipped on with that outfit in Frisco. Her picture was in a lot of papers this past week. That gives me an idea."

Val held her breath, wondering what his idea was.

"We get Johnny here to take a message to Steve Hansen that she's been hurt, an' for him to send a couple of men to get her back to the ship. That makes it just that much easier for us."

"Quick," he said. "We gotta move fast." He sent one of his men away after brief instructions.

Johnny was back in 15 minutes. "Hansen swallowed the whole story," he reported.

"Okay!" the leader said "Let's get going. Watch 'em, Joe."

* * *

Joe motioned for Eddie and Val to sit down.

"Look," Val said desperately. "There's a hundred—five hundred dollars—in it for you if you let us go."

He smirked. "Save your breath, lady."

Val's heart was in her stomach. Steve Hansen in his anxiety would never suspect anything. He'd send a couple—maybe three—men into town. That would leave a bare handful on board. Taken by surprise they wouldn't have a chance.

For a moment she blamed Steve for allowing anyone to have shore leave that night, but it was too late now.

But is mustn't be too late, she told herself fiercely. They had to do something.

Yet the dread thought came to her: Why should Eddie Cavalier get himself involved in anything that might endanger his future, his very life. It would be awfully easy to get himself shot, or even break a bone in his hand, or something like that.

Eddie Cavalier at the moment, however, sat looking up at a stack of empty barrels piled high next to him. A fantastic hope grew with leaps and bounds when he noticed that the bottom barrel was resting on a big piece of burlap. Eddie found that merely by leting his hand dangle at his side he could catch that burlap firmly.

As casually as possible he took hold. Suddenly he gave a mighty jerk, with all his strength.

With a crash, the whole pile of barrels came tumbling down as Eddie pulled the bottom one from underneath.

Their captor leaped up with a startled oath. For one brief second he was off guard. That was all Eddie needed. He catapulted himself forward, grabbed the gunman's wrist with one hand and swung a terrific right to the chin with the other. Joe dropped without a sound.

It had happened so fast that Val could hardly follow it. One minute there had been the crashing roar of empty barrels tumbling about them. The next instant Eddie Cavalier had the gun in his own hand.

"We've got to tie this guy," she gasped.

"No time for that either."

It was almost a half hour since the other men had started out. Her heart pumping wildly, Val hoped and prayed they wouldnt be too late.

It was dark and quiet when they reached the ship. Eddie stopped. "You stay here," he said curtly. "Or better still, you can go for that cop you were talkin' about."

Her answer was to grab his hand and hurry up the gangplank. They pattered along deck and almost tripped over a pair of legs that projected alongside a hatch cover.

It was Mike Kelly, securely tied and gagged. "They got Captain Hanan," he gasped as Eddie released him. "Just a couple of minutes ago. Someone sent word you had busted a leg or somethin'. Hansen sent a couple of guys into town, and bang goes thing we knew the joint was raided."

They scrambled down the companionway toward the hold. "Take it easy," Mike whispered. "Here, gimme that gun. I know how to use 'em," he said to Eddie. Eddie passed it over.

They skirted the engine room. Mike stopped short. "Voices up ahead," he cautioned.

Steve Hansen had just unlocked a bulkhead and was swinging the door wide when they swooped down.

"Drop that hammer!" Mike yelled. The men covering Steve Hansen hirled. Like a flash one of them raised his hand and his gun spit fire. It was either deadly accuracy or pure luck, but the bullet smashed into Mike's gun, knocking it from his hand.

"Down!" Eddie screamed to Val and plunged forward. With a roar Steven Hansen threw a perfect football block into the gunmen and knocked them off balance.

There were two or three more shots and a bullet whanged its way into a steel plate above Val's ear.

She was afraid to look up but when there was no more shooting she raised her head.

The man who had the hammer lay against the bulkhead door, out cold. Eddie was rubbing his hand while Steven Hansen covered the others with one of their own guns.

"Someone will hang for this," Steve grated. And then for the first time Val noticed Mike Kelly sprawled on the floor. He was motionless and around his head was a slowly widening pool of blood.

BRITAIN STOPS NAZIS TAKING OVER ICELAND

Steps Are Taken To Guard Interests Of Allies On Strategic Island

By J. F. SANDERSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, April 16.—Britain has taken steps to safeguard Allied interests in Iceland, strategic island in the Arctic which could be used as a naval base to command the North Atlantic sea lanes, it was learned last night.

It is presumed that the British government has warned Iceland of its dangerous position as a result of German occupation of Denmark and because of its inability to protect itself and safeguard its neutrality, Iceland, the world's oldest democracy, and Denmark are bound together by common allegiance to King Christian.

At the moment, it is learned, there is no plan to occupy Iceland such as was done with the Faroe Islands—the little group of Danish islands between the Shetlands and Iceland—but steps have been taken to see that Germany does not use the rocky, barren shores of Iceland as a submarine base or a sheltered preserve for marauding surface raiders.

There is a disposition here to regard Greenland as within the Canadian sphere of influence and leave to Ottawa any action to guard Allied interests in that Danish possession.

Greenland, although of minor importance to Germany in comparison with Iceland, has great economic value because it possesses 60 per cent of the world supply of cryolite, essential mineral in manufacturing of aluminum.

PRECIPITATION ABOVE NORMAL IN GRAIN AREAS

TORONTO, April 16—Precipitation since April 1 has been well above normal over the grain regions of Alberta and southern sections of Saskatchewan and Manitoba, it was reported last night in the season's first weekly report of the Dominion meteorological service.

Precipitation has been well above normal in Manitoba along the international boundary, but in northern sections of the province no precipitation has occurred. Throughout north-central and north-eastern Saskatchewan precipitation has been well below normal, but in the rest of Saskatchewan and throughout Alberta fall since the beginning of April has been generally well in excess of normal.

During the past week ending yesterday, moderate to heavy precipitation occurred in the foothills regions of Alberta but elsewhere in the west rain, if any, came only in light falls.

Mean temperatures for the week were from four to 12 degrees below normal.

FASCIST PRESS SEES NOTHING BUT 'NAZI' WINS

ROME, April 16—Landing of British forces in Norway was buried deep in the columns of the Fascist press last night.

Column after column of war news originating in Berlin was published under such titles as "Collapse of the New Anglo-French offensive in Scandinavia," and "How the Young German Fleet Whipped the Home Fleet."

Accounts of west front operations were handled in a similar spirit, with headlines claiming "Victorious German Action" and "Serious French Setback on the Rhine."

Military experts and editorial writers saw all operations in German "victories." The La Tribuna predicted an easy check to the British by the Nazis.

Eaves-Dropping Brings $100 Fine To Toronto Man

TORONTO, April 16—A conviction for eaves-dropping was registered here yesterday for the first time in the history of York county courts. Edward Denton Cooper was bound over for a year in the sum of $100. A constable testified he watched Cooper peeking through a window of a house for half an hour.

Eaves-dropping is not an offence under the criminal code, so Crown Attorney Sanders said he had to search back through English common law for authority in laying the charge.

Tiny Possession Sends Clothing To Britain's Forces

LONDON, April 16—A contribution to the Empire's war effort was received yesterday from the South Atlantic island of Tristan Da Cunha, one of the smallest and tiniest of Britain's possessions.

The islanders sent a shipment of winter clothing knitted by the women from wool of the 600 sheep which represent the island's principal wealth.

British Expeditionary Force Is Moved Swiftly Into Action in Norway

LONDON, April 16.—The Daily Herald said today that "military camps in England disappeared overnight" as the men who occupied them were shifted suddenly to ports and moved swiftly across northern waters to the battlefields of Norway.

Describing the transportation of the new British expeditionary force and its supplies the Herald said:

"Ships of all kinds, crammed with men, munitions and stores are steaming across the North Sea on the way to strengthen Britain's new expeditionary force in Norway.

GREAT ACHIEVEMENT

"For hours yesterday trains loaded with essential supplies rumbled into British ports. In one town crowds of holiday makers watched commandeered pleasure steamships chug their way to and from ships.

"For days past boats have been arriving in this and other ports pressed into service. The outstanding feature of the operation is the organization which has enabled troops to move almost unnoticed from all parts of Britain to the ports of embarkation."

The Daily Express said that the troops were equipped with leather jerkins and fur helmets.

The Times, discussing the achievement editorially, said that the landing of troops within seven days of the German assault on Norway was remarkable when account was taken of the preparations which had to be made and the distance which had to be travelled.

RUSSIA'S BAD TURN

"Russia has indeed done Germany a bad turn here," the Times said, "for had it not been for her attack on Finland—an attack which Germany condoned and facilitated and which prompted the formation of an expeditionary force to help that country six weeks ago—exceptional foresight would have been required to secure and dispatch now any force so quickly."

The Daily Mail said that "Since Scandinavia was violated the 'decadent democracies' have shown speed and strength which have been a painful surprise to the enemy."

"Allied naval actions, audacious mining excursions into German seas, planning, dispatch and landing of an expeditionary force on how hostile territory surpass any German accomplishment of recent years," the newspaper said. "For Hitler always has acnieved his lightning coups against defenceless or unprepared people. Britain and France acted against formidable opposition."

The announcement of the landing of British troops in Norway "Will be especially welcome to those hastily-mustered Norwegian forces, who undaunted by surprise, are standing so stoutly against their country's invaders," the Daily Telegraph said.

The Daily Express said that in fighting for Norway Britain fights for itself and for its own safety.

"We begin at last effectively to fight for all other threatened countries whose courage will be heightened by our naval successes in Norway," the newspaper said.

WESTERN FRONT IS QUIET AFTER ACTIVE WEEKEND

PARIS, April 16. — Allied naval victories in the north, capturing the attention of all France, took interest away from the Western Front where the week-end's increased activity relapsed yesterday into the routine patrol clashes and skirmishes that have marked seven months of warfare.

Bad weather paralyzed air activity over the front. A few planes which may have been German were reported over northern and eastern France.

London announcements of the intensive campaign being pushed by the Allies to aid Norway were greeted with satisfaction in parliamentary circles.

U. S. MUST FACE POSSIBILITY OF ALLIED DEFEAT

WASHINGTON, April 16—The United States navy department said yesterday that "one reason given for increasing the strength of our fleet is that we must face the possibility of an allied defeat" in the war.

A departmental statement added, however, that "there is nothing to indicate" that the British and French navies will not continue to maintain a sea superiority over Germany.

The statement was issued in response to a series of questions by chairman David Walsh of the senate naval committee.

Walsh submitted the question in connection with his committee's study of the house-approved $665,000,000 fleet-expansion bill. The measure would authorize — but would not appropriate funds for — 21 fighting ships, 32 auxiliary vessels and 1,011 warplanes.

CAR PETTING IS NO CRIME AVERS JUDGE

NEW YORK, April 16—Petting in a parked automobile is no crime, Magistrate Charles Solomon ruled today, and petting in general, with or without an automobile, may be said to "intrigue rather than outrage public interest."

Solomon dismissed complaints against Anthony Ingenita, 21, and Therline Dowd, 19.

Patrolmen Edward J. Tracy and Andrew J. Curry said they flashed their lights inside Ingenita's parked car and witnessed "willful but openly outraging public decency."

Petting can't be so outrageous, Solomon replied, or people would not "pay good money" to see movie stars "give a much more effective demonstration of public petting than could be manifested by these youthful defendants."

Heavy Snowfall In Saguenay District

Norse Government Publishes Initial Demands of Hitler

STOCKHOLM, April 16.—The Norwegian government last night published a resume of Germany's initial demands for the complete submission of Norway, which it said were first made by the German minister several hours after Germany had started her invasion.

The demands listed were:

1—A proclamation to be made to the people and the army ordering no opposition to Germany.

2—The army to be ordered to establish touch with the advancing Germans and give them loyal collaboration. The army to be allowed to keep its weapons if its conduct permitted. All military buildings to hoist a white flag beneath the Norwegian flag as a sign of their collaboration.

3—The military buildings needed by Germany to secure Norway against the foreign enemies to be delivered undamaged, especially coastal fortresses.

NO SHIPS TO SAIL

4—Detailed charts of Norwegian mine-fields to be delivered to Germany.

5—Norwegian territory to be completely blacked out from the day of occupation.

6—All communications to be maintained at Germany's disposition.

7—No ships to be permitted to sail to foreign ports and no air service to be operated, with the understanding that maritime commerce would be permitted later to German and neutral Baltic ports only.

8—Norwegian pilots to be instructed to obey German orders.

9—Meteorological service to be continued at Germany's disposition but all telephone service, cables and mail to foreign countries to be stopped and traffic with Baltic states to be reduced and controlled by Germany.

10—The press and radio stations to be ordered to carry information as directed by German military authorities, and to collaborate with the military authorities; all radio stations to be turned over to Germany.

11—The export of war materials from Norway to cease.

12—Any proclamations and instructions issued by wireless to be sent only in a cipher unknown to Germany's enemies.

AFTER INVASION STARTED

These demands were presented, the Norwegian government said, at 5:15 a.m. April 9 to Foreign Minister Halvdan Koht.

At that time, the publication said, German warships already had invaded Oslo fjord, Bergen and Trondheim and had fought with coastal batteries.

The German demands said that Berlin had come into possession of documents showing that Britain and France intended to invade Norway in a few days and that Norway would not oppose them and could not oppose successfully.

The German minister was quoted as saying that Germany therefore had ordered certain military operations to occupy strategic and important districts.

This was intended as no attack on Norway's political independence or integrity, the demands claimed, but was an evolution to whom Britain and France really were responsible.

In reply, Koht said he could not make such a decision himself but must present it to the cabinet.

CABINET REFUSES

The cabinet quickly replied that it was impossible for an independent country to accept such demands.

In replying, it commented that Adolf Hitler had himself remarked that "a people that humbly slinks down without any opposition is not entitled to live."

The German attack then continued, the Norwegian government declared.

In a conversation with King Haakon next day, the German minister suggested that the king recognize Major Vidkun Quisling, Norwegian Nazi chief of a new cabinet and accept the cabinet already proclaimed by Quisling at Oslo.

The king replied that Quisling's government was another Danish Stauning government in reference to the government proclaimed in the Finnish Communist Coup Kuusinen when Soviet Russia invaded Finland last November 30.

The German minister replied that the German Fuehrer had decided Quisling must be accepted as the chief.

King Haakon answered "No."

Asked if this meant continued Norwegian opposition to the advance, Koht replied:

"Yes, as long as ever possible."

Italy May Enter War Soon, Says Fascist Editor

British United Press

ROME, April 16—A declaration by Giovanni Ansaldo, editor of Foreign Minister Galeazzo Ciano's newspaper Telegrafo, that Italy soon may enter the war, has climaxed a week-long campaign against the allies by the Italian press and radio.

Ansaldo said those who believed Italy would avoid the war were "deluded." He spoke by radio to the armed forces.

No official text of his speech was made available to foreign correspondents but an authoritative version was that he said—and we quote—"It is not a matter of months, but of weeks before Italy may find herself compelled to enter the conflict."

Drought Ends

SYDNEY, Australia, April 16—Heavy rains have ended one of the worst droughts experienced in New South Wales in many years, enabling wheat sowing to begin. Wheat is locally at present at its highest price since May, 1938.

DANISH, NORSE WEALTH MAY BE HELD HOSTAGE

WASHINGTON, April 16—Henry Morgenthau, secretary of the treasury, indicated last night that the United States might hold Norwegian and Danish wealth in the country as a hostage for American investments in the two German-invaded countries.

He told reporters that he is studying what "We can do in case" the Germans should set up a government which would repudiate American investments.

Latest commerce department estimates place United States long term investments in Denmark at $103,000,000 and in Norway at $82,000,000—principally in the form of governmental bonds of the two countries.

Neither country owes the United States treasury any money.

$23,718 Raised At New Zealand Theatre Matinee

LONDON, April 16—The Duchess of Kent yesterday attended a "New Zealand matinee" at His Majesty's theatre for the benefit of local New Zealand war hospitality committee. Maori war dances and other New Zealand entertainment were on the program. A sum of 15,330 ($23,817) was raised.

AMERICANS TO GUARD DUTCH POSSESSIONS

Protectorate Likely To Watch Over Interests In South America

By ANDRUE BERDING
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, April 16. — If Hitler should seize The Netherlands, informed persons here see a distinct possibility that republics of North and South America would move to set up a temporary protectorate over the Dutch possessions in the western hemisphere.

Persons close to the state department assert that the United States would not permit Germany to claim possession or sovereignty over the Dutch possessions. As a matter of fact, they do not believe Germany would think of doing so, desirous as she is of not antagonizing the United States.

COMES UNDER DOCTRINE

But, if Holland should go the way of Denmark, these informed sources do foresee the possibility that the Dutch West Indies and Dutch Guiana, which is on the northern coast of South America within easy flying distance of the Panama Canal, would be taken for the time being under the protective Pan-American wing.

Such an action would be an outgrowth of the Monroe Doctrine, which barred territorial aggrandizement of European powers in the western hemisphere. The doctrine was enunciated by President James Munroe in 1823.

The American nations met at Panama last September-October following the outbreak of the war and united upon a common policy of neutrality.

GREENLAND QUESTION

Now the question rises of land still farther north — the Danish island of Greenland. Any idea of German occupation of Greenland seems regarded here as chimerical. But if Germany should assume Denmark's sovereignty over Greenland, informed circles predict the United States might act in a most positive way.

Hitler Admitted He Had Not 'Scruples' of Kaiser Before Attack on Poland

GENEVA, April 16—Dr. Karl M. Burckhardt, an official of the League of Nations, reported yesterday that 20 days before Germany moved against Poland Adolf Hitler declared he had no such scruples as Wilhelm II" and that he "would fight without mercy up to the extreme limits."

In a report to the league council on his famous interview with Hitler at Obersalzberg on Aug. 11, Dr. Burckhardt, league high commissioner for Danzig, promised to further as alternately boasting of Germany's armed might and insisting on his desire for peace.

Hitler said that, although the German army leaders were "cautious" during the Czecho-Slovak crisis in 1938, he had to restrain them in the Polish crisis.

DISCUSSIONS "FULLY"

Burckhardt, who had gone to Hitler in an attempt to stabilize the problem of Danzig, the port which was abolished by Germany after the outbreak of the war in September, reported the chancellor told him "eternal discussions on war were folly and that they brought nations to a state of madness."

The fuehrer then told Burckhardt, the latter said, that "the essence of the matter" was that Germany needed space in the east for timber and colonies in which to raise wheat.

Hitler said that while the German harvests in 1938 and 1939 were excellent, this was due mainly to the use of chemical fertilizers and that the land soon would be worn out.

The report quoted him as having added that he never would allow the German people to be dragged down into such "sweat and famine" as they had endured between 1914 and 1920.

On Burckhardt's remarking that "the western powers certainly will be ready to settle this problem by negotiation," the report said:

POLISH ARMY INADEQUATE

"Herr Hitler then asked why, in that case, they had stirred up the Poles?

"Herr Hitler added:

"We are not acting as we did in Czecho Slovakia. In all respects, Herr Hitler said, the Czechs were different from the Poles," the report continued. "The technical organization of the Polish army was inadequate. Last year the generals had been very cautious but this time it was he who had to restrain them."

At the end of the interview Hitler said, according to Burckhardt, that a "reasonable solution must be found and that, if the Poles left Danzig alone, he would cease any interference in the Free City; that he could wait on the condition that the German minority in Poland ceased to be molested."

DANZIG ARMED CAMP

After the interview, Burckhardt said, he returned to Danzig, which he found turned into "an armed camp."

"Herr von Ribbentrop's (Joachim von Ribbentrop, German foreign minister) journey to Moscow completely upset the situation. From this time forward antagonistic plans were put forward from the German side.

It was well-nc brought that during the discussion Hitler, although subdued, those in the higher circles of the National Socialist regime lived in the conviction that, in view of the arrangement with the U.S.S.R. and after a rapid victory over Poland, the western powers would not go so far as a general armed conflict. Such was the opinion of Albert Forster (Nazi district leader of Danzig).

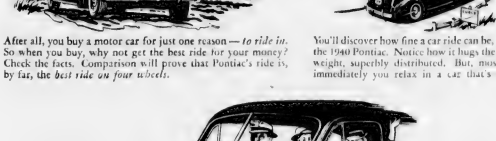

Burckhardt's report was written Dec. 27, but it was not released to the press or communicated to League members until yesterday.

GOERING GIVES BRONZE BUSTS TO WAR CHEST

BERLIN, April 16. — Several bronze busts of leading German personalities are a part of Field Marshal Hermann Goering's contribution to the Reich's collection of old metal.

"One should appreciate a chance like this to clear out some of the junk which is of no particular use or depicts men who never have done anything for the German people," Goering told newsmen.

Looking Them Over

By Jack Kelly

Clean At Last

Fines Needed

Oshawa Here?

TODAY the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association stands entitled to a rousing ovation and maybe a monument. They are the first body in this country to take the sham out of this business of amateur sport.

At the annual meeting in Montreal yesterday, the C.A.H.A. cleared away all the red tape and subterfuge on the matter of paying amateur hockey players. Clubs can now deal for a player's services in a frank, clean-cut way—and best of all they can sign him to a binding contract.

You probably wonder what difference is left between our amateur hockey and the professional variety. The answer is chiefly that of the setup. The amateur game is not losing anything. For as long as I can remember, you have had to pay good amateur purchases. The only thing new about it is that now you don't have to lie and sneak about it.

There is however, still a primary difference between amateur and pro hockey. With few exceptions, amateur teams are operated for the sake of providing sport for a town or city. Most of them lose money that has to be made up by generous supporters. All clubs would of course like to finish with some surplus to start the next season with, but in general the factor of profit is secondary to that of winning provincial and dominion honors.

On the other hand, pro hockey is operated with the profits a paramount consideration. It does not pretend to be an enterprise for civic pride. It is a cold business proposition.

Will Bring Better Control

LAST night's dispatches from Montreal did not explain the new C.A.H.A. player contract in any detail, so it is hard to say exactly what the result of them will be.

I know however that Dr. Hardy has had expert legal talent working over a form of player contract for some time and the result will probably be as binding as it can be made. The object is to make the contracts binding even if they should be contested in the courts.

It is likely that these contract will either provide, or pave the way, for fines to be levied on players. That is something that coaches and club officials have yearned for. It has also been a major weakness in amateur hockey. No argument is needed to prove that discipline and control are absolutely essential in handling a team. Furthermore no one has yet been able to devise a more effective means of maintaining control of players than that of docking their pay checks.

Hundreds of otherwise promising teams have been hamstrung by players breaking training, by pig-headed obstinacy and players nursing grudges and spites. Fines are the only weapon that can be effectively used against such misbehavior.

Another benefit likely to come from player contracts is a saner contract over the pay offered players. All contracts must be filed with the C.A.H.A. and from these it will be possible to know exactly what is going on.

Let the rigs for example, has been straying crabbily for the Allan Cup. If my information is correct, not only has spent something like $50,000 on two years of effort. It has been led or more out-and-out that some advantage as a result of building up much more or less of a secret market owing to Edmonton amateur rulings.

Oshawa May Play Here

YESTERDAY I tried to bury hockey gracefully so far as Edmonton is concerned this season, but last night Jack Deakin wired from the C.N.R. train bringing back the E.A.C. that plans were being made to bring the Oshawa Generals here for exhibition games as soon as the Dominion junior final is over at Winnipeg.

Oshawa Generals are planning to go on to the Pacific coast for a holiday trip after the final and would be glad to stop off and play here. Details of the plan have not been completed yet, but it looks like something that would greatly interest the folks here. Thousands would like to have a look at the outfit that stopped our fellow the dominion final a year ago—and which may do the same thing to Kenora.

Professor Tony Favors Picture Mags For Pugs

By HAROLD CLAASSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

KANSAS CITY, April 16.—Professor D. A. Galento of Swat-More University definitely is opposed to unillustrated books for athletes—especially boxers.

"Poetry? What's poetry? You smark guys are always talking about things I don't understand," remarked Tony Galento, the Italic New Jersey bartender, after refereeing a fight here.

"Why, I own a saloon just a couple of blocks from the school I quit before I got out of the fifth grade. I didn't read poetry. I am a success."

Galento invented the rally-around-the-ear technique, was accompanied to his fall home, Dunellen, N.J., Guernsey, by the Associated Press Gazette.

That shows how smart I am, said Galento. I only read the pictures in books. Most of the time I save signing autographs."

The heavy-weight boxer's remaining ambition is self-made ladder of success deals with courtesy.

"Everywhere I go on this refereeing tour people know me. To save time right now I'm Joe Louis' chief sparring partner. I am a success."

HORRIBLE EXAMPLE

Galento pointed to Johnny Paycheck, Champion Louis' most recent sparring victim, as a horrible example of what happens to a boxer exposed in the classics.

Galento's manager, Joe Jacobs, would be second stage thinking today for his May 28 bout with Max Baer.

"Tomorrow I'll tell you what I'm going to do," Jacobs said. "I'm going to Kansas City tonight and I'll have a talk with two week's training and results ready."

Akron Veteran Bowls Perfect 10-Pin Game

DETROIT, April 16—George Pallage, veteran from Akron, O., thrilled mattnee rail birds at the American Bowling Congress championships here Monday with the seventh perfect 300 game in the 40-year history of the classic.

Opening his singles trial modestly with 187 and 158, Pallage thereafter never after strike until he was 7 consecutive with Brooklyn. He spent his slow hook into the pocket for the 11th strike. In absolute silence George again rifled his hook ball more. Lindy this and rolled the 10 strikes on a clean, powerful hit.

Rotherham, Walsall Squads Advance

LONDON, April 16—Rotherham United and Walsall will play in the first round of the English Football League War Cup Saturday, Defeating Doncaster Rovers 1-0 in a replayed preliminary round match Monday, Rotherham qualified to meet Sheffield United and Walsall brushed Port Vale 4-0 in another replay for the right to oppose Swansea Town.

At the week-end Rotherham and Doncaster battled to a scoreless draw and the Port Vale-Walsall game ended in a 2-2 deadlock.

Hardly defeated 90 Rangers 5-0 in a Scottish League fixture yesterday and Hibernian defeated Queen of the South 4-0 in a Scottish Cup match Monday.

CONNY SMYTHE SEEKING POST IN ARTILLERY

TORONTO, April 16—Basten in Stanley cup finals again, Toronto Maple Leafs are going right out in search of more talent for the new National Hockey League campaign. New York Rangers' victory over the Montreal Canadiens this year, combined Saturday night, thrilled the Toronto club's sixth defeat in the two finals in eight seasons. The Leafs last won the world championship in 1932.

"We've just been getting up off the floor today," Manager Conny Smythe said last night. "But we're not going to lose any time trying to build for next season, even though our young team doesn't need a whole lot of strengthening.

"I have made another offer to Montreal Canadiens for Toe Blake. They aren't prepared to discuss terms, however, until a new coach is appointed.

PLENTY OFFERED

"We will pay $20,000 for a good young defenceman like Ott Heller or Babe Pratt of the Rangers. I have been offering Boston Bruins $25,000 for Dit Clapper for a long time. I might as well offer it to them again. We could use a good driving defenceman and if we get one I think we'll be fixed."

Smythe stated he was not worrying about price when in search of a key player.

Practically every member of this year's team is sure of a job next winter. Whether Smythe himself will be able to take active direction of the team appeared doubtful today, however, when he confirmed Captain Red Horner's tip that "the boss has been breaking in a pair of military boots".

SEEKING POST

Smythe said he has been trying for several months to re-enter the Royal Canadian Artillery as a major. He served with the artillery in the first great war before transferring to the Royal Flying Corps, with which he was serving when shot down and imprisoned by the Germans. He won the Military Cross.

Players held their last meeting of the year Monday. Schriner, who left for his Calgary home Sunday, with Eddie Wiseman of Boston Bruins, was the only absentee. Coach Dick Irvin plans to motor to Regina with his family about Thursday.

"But the big story right now isn't that we're planning to strengthen or what we're going to do about next season at all. The big story is the fact that three members of one family, Lester Patrick and his two sons, Lynn and Muzz, are members of one Stanley cup team, the Rangers. I never saw a more amazing story and anything I might say now is submerged by what the Rangers' manager has done."

All Managers Confident They Have Better Teams

NEW YORK, April 16.—Though the girders in many a grandstand still are festooned with icicles and a cold wind howls across the land, another big league baseball campaign starts today.

The Athletics are boomed from [illegible] as the managers is publicly picking it to win its own pennant. Dr. J. Thompson Prothro of Philadelphia Phillies even goes so far as to say: "I don't think we will finish in the first division."

Reluctance of the managers to commit themselves is just strategy. All the clubs are stronger.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Jimmy Dykes, Chicago White Sox—"We'll have more power this year. If we hit consistently we'll make trouble and be hard to beat all the way."

Joe Cronin, Boston Red Sox—"If our pitching, which has looked good, stays that way, we're going to be a much improved ball club."

Joe McCarthy, New York Yankees—"The Yanks look as good as last year. My team is ready to meet any challenge."

Connie Mack, Philadelphia Athletics—"I am quite satisfied the Athletics will be much stronger this season than last, although I can't predict where we'll finish. Our pitching may be weak at the start but will improve as we go along."

Fred Haney, St. Louis Browns—"We have an improved ball club and hope to finish higher than last year."

Del Baker, Detroit Tigers—"I expect the Tigers to return to the first division this year. This opinion is based on the assumption that Charley Gehringer will be able to play second base for us. Our outfield is stronger and Hank Greenberg has given it added punch."

Bucky Harris, Washington Senators—"We have one of the fastest outfields in baseball and I'm the kind of a team that the fans like to watch."

Oscar Vitt, Cleveland Indians—"At no time have I had the entire squad in shape to play at the same time. How can I make predictions about a team that, in a sense, I know?"

Gabby Hartnett, Chicago Cubs—"I'm convinced we have a better ball club than in the past—how much better remains to be seen."

Bill McKechnie, Cincinnati Reds—"We are going to start the season with a ball club stronger than the one we won the pennant with last year."

Ray Blades, St. Louis Cardinals—"We [illegible] have a winning club, but as to just where we will finish I am unable to say."

Leo Durocher, Brooklyn Dodgers—"It was hustle that gave the Dodgers the pennant last year and hustling [illegible] will be the order of the day this season."

Bill Terry, New York Giants—

CHICAGO TRACK ON SALE BLOCK

CHICAGO, April 16.—Sale of fashionable Arlington Park, ranked among the best race tracks in the world, to a syndicate of Chicagoans headed by John D. Allen, business executive, was recommended by the board of directors today.

John D. Hertz, chairman of the executive board of the Illinois C. announced the proposal to sell the $2,500,000 racing plant would be placed before the stockholders at a meeting April 29.

Under the new setup, if the sale is ratified, Allen will become Arlington's new president.

If the sale is consummated, Hertz said, the stockholders who invested $1,650,000 in cash in the enterprise in 1923, would receive substantially all the money they invested.

The Giants are going to be right in the fight. We have only average power, but great pitching, speed and a snappy defence."

Casey Stengel, Boston Bees—"If the pitching holds up we may be able to do a whole lot better than anyone expects us to."

Frank Frisch, Pittsburgh Pirates—"I can realize the Pirates present a lot of problems, but you can rest assured the players will have to step on it. I will demand smart, heads-up play."

Doc Prothro, Phillies—"This is a better club than I managed last season and we should fare better. But I do know the other seven clubs in our league are stronger."

KENORA OPENS FINAL BATTLE WITH OSHAWA

WINNIPEG, April 16.—Oshawa Generals pit their all-round balance against the systematic Kenora Thistles here tonight in the opener of a best-of-five defence of their Canadian junior hockey championship and the Memorial Cup. Second and third contests are slated for Thursday and Saturday.

Generals are heralded as a club even busier than the classy Canadian championship quintet of last year but Thistles, relying on a defensive type of play, are hoping to tie up the Easterners the same as they did Winnipeg Monarchs, Port Arthur and Edmonton Athletic Club in the western playdowns.

Unlike the free-wheeling, wide open Manitoba junior representatives of recent years, Thistles concentrate their scoring punch in a few forwards and count on their well-executed backchecking to win games.

"They can't beat us if they don't score," is the counsel of Coach Bunny Boswell, manager.

Coach Tracy Shaw believes Generals' scoring punch will prove to be a margin of victory and his club will make hockey history by being the first to win the national crown twice in succession.

Generals have scoring punch scattered over the whole club and, in the estimation of President J. B. Highfield, are "better than last years champions."

Danny McMahon, who starred in the national titlers' set last year, will see his second junior final while Don Daniels, classy defenceman, is playing in his third Canadian championship series. Generals lost out to St. Boniface in 1938.

Generals other defencemen, Frank Eddols and George Ritchie, complete a blueline brigade reputed to be a dangerous on attack as they are solid on defence.

The famed Oshawa front line with Jud and Norm McAfee, the brothers who starred in the 1939 finals, and Ron Wilson, are expected to carry much of the Oshawa offence.

According to a test made in 100,000 cases in England, women's skin is one degree cooler than men's, on the average.

Calgary Enters First Series For Allan Cup

By CHARLES EDWARD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

PORT ARTHUR, April 16.—The western senior amateur hockey title rests in Calgary today for the first time, won for the foothills by Calgary Stampeders who hurdled the 1939 Allan cup champions in as gallant a comeback as the sport has known.

After losing the first game of the best of five western final to the mighty Port Arthur Bear Cats and tying the second, both in Saskatoon, Stampeders won two straight on Calgary ice and finished the series in the Cats' own stronghold here last night with a 4-3 victory.

A rabid Thunderbay crowd of 4,000 that jammed every inch of standing room in the Arena, sat in stunned silence as the final whistle told them defeat had ended the Bear Cats' hope of winning the national championship two years in a row, repeating a feat Port Arthur achieved in 1925-26. Then the Albertans received an ovation.

Coach Gordon "Phat" Wilson, great defenceman of the 1925-28 title teams and again in 1929 when Port Arthur won its third dominion championship, summed up the crowd's reaction as he stood among his players in the dressing room after the game.

"The better team won," said Phat. "They had condition and class and they had fight that kept them trying every minute of the series. They outfought us and we with them luck. Marty Burke is ace-high and deserves it."

And Coach Burke, leading his howling, half delirious players into the Calgary dressing room, also had a word for Bear Cats. "They showed us why they won the Allan cup," he said simply. "When we beat them we really beat a hockey team."

It was Calgary's first qualification for the Allan cup final in which they meet Kirkland Lake Blue Devils in a best of five series opening in Toronto Thursday. It was also only the second time a Calgary team has reached the western final.

In 1932, Calgary Bronks, led by present-day star of Toronto National League Maple Leafs, Dixie "Sweeney" Schriner, lost to Port William in the Paton cup western series.

PORTS SCORE FIRST

Port Arthur scored first last night, Edgar Laprade setting up a beautiful pass for Walter Kolviato to count in less than five minutes. Two minutes later, with each team a man short through penalties in Norm Wright of Ports and Pat Hill of Calgary, Cam Burke shot the equalizer on a pass from Dave Dunlop. A scrappy, three-man attack at 17:07 ended with Les Thirlwell scoring to put the Albertans ahead at the period's end.

Tony Desmarais was benched for tripping and Cats tied the score when he was joined Edgar Laprade tipping of a power play with a shot from three feet. Goalie Art Rice's rebound, Wright was unmanned at times as he held off Port attack en in this period.

BANG IN REBOUND

The third was only two minutes old when Desmarais, down-and-goalie Jake Nash's pads and Jimmy Jempson raced into fire home the rebound. With Ports pressing desperately two minutes from the end Chuck Millman broke clear from long attack to take Dudnick's neat relay and score. In just 15 seconds Wright took Kolviato's pass for a third Port Arthur goal.

The Cats pulled off Nash and sent six men on attack seeking the equalizer but Calgary's defence was impregnable.

In 16 play-off games since early March, during which they eliminated Edmonton Flyers and Turner Valley Oilers in Alberta playdowns and Trail Smoke Eaters and Port Arthur in the interprovincial series, Stampeders won 11, lost three and tied two. They scored 83 goals to 35 for the opponents.

U.S. JOINS CANADA IN NEW HOCKEY CONTROL BODY

Laughs Aplenty Behind Stanley Cup Battles

By JACK CALDER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, April 16.—Hockey's world series of 1940 produced its share of moments to be remembered, from the time the first puck was dropped until New York Rangers finished off Toronto Maple Leafs in the finals. No one could have caught them all, but anyone assigned to follow the fortunes of the Maple Leafs couldn't have missed much.

For instance, there was the classic remark of Lester Patrick of the Rangers—which may have set an example for other managers under Stanley cup pressure.

Patrick was expressing a theory and someone asked if the silver fox was speaking for publication.

"Use your own judgment," Patrick said. "I'm not normal."

HORNER GETS WARNED

Perhaps Phillippe Francois Watson, the Rangers' speedy centre, came up with the best crack of all the players when Red Horner spilled him in the first game of the finals.

"I let him have the hip," Horner recalls, "and he went sprawling into the net. He came out looking a little crestfallen.

"'You be a good sport, now, Red,' he told me, 'she's gonna be long series'."

Horner, Watson and the Blond Mrs. Watson laughed about it at the Rangers' victory celebration.

EMBARRASSING SPOT

Horner was caught in the most embarrassing moment of the series, and the full story is worth the telling. It happened after the red-heads fight on the ice with Alex Motter during the last game of the semi-finals with Detroit, which ended in the wildest free-for-all in hockey history.

Motter and Horner went off together with five-minute penalties and Red asked invitingly: "Now, why did you have to start fighting?"

"Who did you ever lick?" shot back Motter, without even bothering to put up his hands.

Alex sprawled across a bench from the impact of Horner's long right. When the battle was broken up, a policeman was placed between them.

Then, from far down the rink, came a wild-eyed woman. Press row watched her moving swiftly towards the penalty box and turned to see the excitement.

The fanette put both hands about Horner's neck from behind. Then she took one hand away and let him have it with her purse about the ears. The operating was completed when she pulled Red's sweater over his eyes.

Horner turned to swing and pulled back his fist just in time when he saw who his assailant was.

RED FACES

Faces were almost as red all through the playoffs, though There were four players who shot pucks into their own net on behalf of the Maple Leafs. Art Wiebe and Jack Portland of Chicago and Alf Pike and Mac Colville of the Rangers.

The Detroit free-for-all produced a couple of quick ones.

Captain Ebbie Goodfellow of the Red Wings and Bingo Kampman of the Leafs grappled with one another.

"Why don't you box?" goodfellow demanded.

"I'm not a boxer," Kampman said. "I'm a wrestler."

And they went back to wrestling.

Regis (Pep) Kelly of the Toronto team singled out Sonny Brown, who isn't very big either. Kelly got the youngster off balance and was about to score with a right cross.

"Then I saw a twinkle in his eye and I pulled up short," Kelly recalls. "'I can't box,' I told him. 'Neither can I,' he said. 'Let's wrestle'."

So Kelly and Brown wrestled, for all the world like a couple of diminutive Greek dancers.

EXPLANATION OF TODAY'S CARTOON

THE 19-PUTT GOLFER—Damon Jacobsen of South Gate, California, playing in a foursome on the 72-par Lakewood course at Long Beach, required only 19 putts in playing the 18-hole course—yet he two-putted four greens! He sank three approach shots, and used only one putt on each of the other 11 greens. He scored a 68 for the round.

Situation Cleared On Paying of Players

MONTREAL, April 16.—Canada and the United States have agreed to the formation of a new organization to be known tentatively as the International Ice Hockey League, and Great Britain will be extended an invitation to enter the alliance, it was announced last night at the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association's annual meeting.

Professor W. G. Hardy of Edmonton, president of the C.A.H.A., made the announcement after delegates to the 26th annual meeting met in camera to discuss the C.A.H.A.'s agreement with the National Hockey League and the question of players under the C.A.H.A. banner signing contracts.

"The decision to form the new league was reached at a meeting with officials of the Amateur Hockey Association of the United States," said Doctor Hardy. "An invitation will be extended to the British Ice Hockey Association to join us. The purpose of the new association is to promote the game of hockey among the three Anglo-Saxon nations."

Doctor Hardy was named president of the new group while Tom Lockhart, New York, the president of the A.H.A. of U.S., will be first vice-president. Doctor Hardy said that the B.I.H.A. would be asked to name a man to the post of second vice-president.

Formation of the new association, it was declared, in no way affects the C.A.H.A.'s position as a member of the Ligue Internationale de Hockey Sur Glace, controlling body of world hockey.

CONTRACTS O.K.

After the closed meeting Doctor Hardy reported that delegates had agreed to allow clubs the option next season "of making contracts with senior and junior players." He added that clubs which took this step "must file notification with the C.A.H.A."

Doctor Hardy also said that the "meeting was in favor of continuing the agreement with the N.H.L. Last year's agreement with the N.H.L. provided that teams in the professional circuit would not sign any player of junior age, nor would they sign any player after Jan. 1 without the consent of the amateur club.

CHANGE DEFINITION

Earlier in the day, delegates from the association's nine branches decided to change the constitution with reference to the definition of an amateur. It was decided that henceforth an amateur hockey player would be designated as one who "either has not engaged or is not engaged in organized professional hockey."

A motion from the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada that the C.A.H.A. reaffiliate itself with the union was turned down for the present. The hockey body made the break from the union a few years ago over the question of reimbursement for amateur hockey players.

TEAMS CUT DOWN

Another of the major resolutions passed at the morning session provides that in the 1940-41 season teams engaged in the Allan Cup and Memorial Cup playdowns will be limited to carry only 18 men, including the spare goal-tender. In the past season teams were allowed 20 men, including the substitute goalie, while in seasons before that the limit was 11 men, with the spare netminder.

The resolution was introduced by George Mackintosh of Edmonton president of the Alberta branch of the association, who said it was intended both as an economy measure and because of the fact that there is a difficulty in certain sections of western Canada for clubs to engage 18 players of senior calibre.

At the afternoon session the C.A.H.A. decided again to grant each branch $1,000 to foster hockey, particularly in the lower classifications such as junior, juvenile, midget and bantam. Delegates also passed a rule whereby any team found using oversize sticks would be penalized by forfeiture of the game.

TRANSFER PROBLEMS

Despite the opposition of British Columbia delegates, the general session also decided that no interbranch transfers would be granted to junior players seeking to play senior hockey in another branch. British Columbia delegates sought an amendment that this would be permissible if the branch to which the junior player sought to change to gave its permission for the move.

The C.A.H.A. moved to help players who have only one season away from their parent branch by deciding to allow those players "to return to said parent branch, and there be eligible to play again with their former clubs, without being classified as imports."

As a barrier to clubs signing dummy cards and then obtaining outside players through the military replacement rule, a resolution also was passed providing that each club "must file with their branch secretary, the names of all players who have enlisted, with date of enlistment for active service, and such names shall then be filed immediately with the registrar of the C.A.H.A."

The registration date for junior hockey players, providing that they be under 20 on Jan. 1 during the past season, was changed to Nov. 1 for the 1940-41 season. The same rule also applies to other minor classifications, such as juvenile, bantam and midget.

JAMAICA SETS CROWD RECORD WITH MUTUELS

NEW YORK, April 16.—William Woodward and New York's new mutuel machines hit the jackpot Monday as the Metropolitan racing season opened before a chilled, overrated crowd of 22,470 fans, an all-time high for the Jamaica track.

Woodward, whose Belair stud has sent Gallant Fox, Omaha and Johnstown to the winner's circle in the Kentucky Derby, came up with another first-race hope when Pensilon, a game son of Sir Gallahad III, put on a terrific rush in the last eighth mile to whip five other derby candidates in a six-furlong allowance event.

Then Woodward and his trainer, Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons, came right back with Fighting Fox, in the $7,500 Paumonok handicap. Fighting Fox galloped under the wire a length and a half in the good over W. R. Boeing's Porter's Mite, completing the three-quarters in 1:11 4-5.

The customers far exceeded all expectations for wagering in the first day of mutuel machines in New York. For the seven races, the total "handle" skyrocketed to $821,946.

Penelon's Gallant Victory, in 1:12 3-5 for the six furlongs, netted $1,000. Fighting Fox's triumph in the Paumonok was worth $6,400 to the winner.

Where Penelon paid $12.50 for each $2 ticket, Fighting Fox was the lone favorite of the day to come in, paying $4 in the mutuels.

Oshawa General Coach Stresses Club Harmony

WINNIPEG, April 16.—He's a baseball catcher and the diamond game is his first love yet he's bathing 1,000 as a hockey coach. When Tracy Shaw took over Oshawa Generals three years ago he had little coaching experience. Since then he has won three eastern Canada junior hockey titles in a row—something no other coach has ever done.

The silver-haired Shaw, who admits candidly he would rather play baseball than any other game, is preparing his team now for the Memorial cup series against Kenora Thistles in Winnipeg tonight. Generals won the trophy by defeating Edmonton last year. If they take it again it will be the first time in 22 years of the cup's history that the same club has won it on successive years.

Shaw doesn't claim any particular formula but he does believe in harmony and that perhaps is why he has accomplished so much.

Tracy played junior hockey with De La Salle when that Toronto school won the Ontario Hockey Association title more than a decade ago then graduated to senior with North Toronto where he was a teammate of Lionel Conacher, former "Big Train" of Canadian sport.

Shaw says it was about that time he began "looking after" North Toronto juniors which was his first attempt at tutoring hockey players. One of his first pupils was Charlie "Chuck" Conacher who developed into one of the greatest right wingers in the game.

During the years that followed his initial coaching experiment, Shaw quit active playing and officiated. Finally he went to Oshawa to manage that city's senior baseball team and wound up coaching its hockey champions.

Y.M.C.A. Lilt Eastern Title

MONTREAL, April 16—Montreal Young Men's Hebrew Association won the Eastern Canada senior basketball title last night, defeating Windsor Alumni 39-38 in a thrill-packed game. The victory was the second straight for the "Y" and sent them into the Canadian final against the Western champions. The Quebec champions were forced to come from behind for the victory after leading almost throughout. A determined Windsor rally, capped by Glenn Sherman's two field goals, shot the Alumni into a single point lead in the final minute. With but 20 seconds left, however, the Y.M.H.A. worked in close and the ball went back to Bernie Ziff, unguarded about 20 feet out. The tall centre, who shot the winning basket in Montreal's 35-33 overtime victory in the first game, threw the ball dead through the basket without touching a rim.

Norwegian Ships Told To Ignore Orders Of Nazis

CRISTOBAL, Canal Zone, April 16 — The Norwegian minister to Washington, Wilhelm Morgenstierne, yesterday warned Norwegian ships in Canal Zone ports to ignore any "instructions" coming from Major Vidkun Quisling's "so-called government" or from Oslo radio stations which "may be sent by the Germans to misguide Norwegians abroad."

VANCOUVER WINS 12-POINT EDGE

MAGRATH, April 16. — Vancouver Maple Leafs defeated Magrath Lions 56-44 here last night in the first of their two-game total-point senior men's inter-provincial basketball playoff series.

The second game will be played here Wednesday night with the winner advancing against the Manitoba champions, Winnipeg St. Andrews, in the western Canada finals.

Leafs unable to bring their full team, utilized only six players against the youthful Alberta champions, but the sextet packed too much rage experience for Lions.

Smart plays into the basket plus strong zone defensive tactics enabled Leafs to snatch an early lead and hold it throughout the game. From the first two minutes, when Vancouver rifled in their field baskets to take a 6-0 lead there seemed little doubt of the outcome.

Vancouver: Henderson (13); Beaton (6); Ross (10); Watson (17); Parsons (1); Wright; Total, 56.

Magrath: Hamilton (16); Karren (3); Bourne (11); Sabey; Bennett; Toomer (9); Blumell; Rich (3). Total 44.

CANADIAN WINS U.S. SKI CROWN

PORTLAND, Ore., April 16.—When Canada's ski champion, Art Coles of the Tyee Ski Runners, sliced down fog-shrouded Mount Hood to win the combined championship of the coveted Far West Kandahah, his feat was a definite bread for asking in the domination.

Fresh from weeks of training at Jasper, Alberta, with his Swiss coach, Peter Vaida, the coast flash bested some of the top skiers in the United States in the gruelling downhill race, finishing the 2½ mile dash from Crester Rock in timberline in two minutes and 24.4 seconds.

Second to Coles was Sig. Engl of Sun Valley and below him were such notables as Toni Matt and Sveidl Pfeiffer, acknowledged to be among the finest of the world's skiers. Coles was one of the few runners to navigate the steep, foggy course without mishap.

Gertrude Wepsala, Canadian ladies' slalom champion and also a pupil of Vaida, finished second among the distaff 40 competitors with Pfeiffer of a second behind Nancy Reynolds of Sun Valley.

Gradettes Defeat Winnipegs 93-53 To Enter Dominion Senior Finals

EDMONTON GRADETTES last night defeated Winnipeg Dominions 45-26 here at the Normal School gym to sweep the two-game, total-point series and enter the dominion women's senior basketball final with a final margin of 93-53 over the Manitoba girls.

The dominion final will be played in Vancouver with the Gradettes pitted against the Vancouver Westerns.

Colville and Strachan led the Gradettes to the final decisive victory with 13 and 14 points respectively. Hughes came next with seven points while Gordon and Ewasluk each counted five.

Simm was the top sniper for the Winnipeg girls with a total of 10 Manshreck contributed six.

The Gradettes got away to a flying start when they outscored the Winnipegs 14-2 in the opening quarter. Each club counted 10 in the second quarters and then in the third frame the visitors made their big bid and outscored the Gradettes 10 to 7. In the last quarter the Gradettes came back to score 14 to their opponent's four.

LINEUPS

Winnipeg: Simm 10, Harwood 2, Manshreck 6, Goll 3, Wellwood 4, B. McKelvey 1, Walkley, E. McKelvey.

MIDGET HORSES ARE DISCOVERED IN U. S. CANYON

GRAND CANYON, Ariz., April 16.—Proof that midget horses exist in the Grand Canyon country was claimed yesterday by Jack Tooker, railroad engineer. He reported trapping two of the tiny animals, a mare and a colt, in a canyon 20 miles west of here.

Officials of the national park service were investigating the authenticity of the report. They had not seen the horses.

Arthur Belnal, Buckeye, Ariz., rancher, said he had inspected and measured the horses. The mare, he said, was between six and seven years old, weighed 80 pounds and was 30 inches tall, while the colt was just under a year old, weighed 19 pounds and was 14 or 15 inches high.

With The Pin Busters

It's playoff time at the Recreation Alleys these days as the various leagues reach the ends of their regular schedules.

In the Old Timers' League, the Busters defeated the Ramblers in a best of three set for the championship on Monday afternoon. Livingstone led the winners with a high single of 184 and a high double of 414.

The Car Shops beat the Relief squad in the Civic Block League playoff last night, a best of three affair. It was close though with the Car Shops winning the last game by margin of only four pins. Moyer rolled the high single of 263 and the high triple of 730.

The Lady Lawn Bowlers have also started their finals. The Travelettes took two straight games from the Kioras to cinch first place. Mrs. McLeod of the Travelettes rolled the high single of 240 while Mrs. P. Marshall had the high double of 428. Series to decide second, third and fourth positions, as well as consolation, will be run off this week. High scores for the season in this league were: High single, Mrs. Kussh 322; high triple, Mrs. McLeod 784; high average, Mrs. Fleming 205.

KELLER'S CLOUT CRACKS RUFFING

NEW YORK, April 16.—Injuries continued to pile up against the world champion New York Yankees Monday on the eve of the baseball season.

With Joe DiMaggio, their outfield star, definitely out of today's opener with the Athletics at Philadelphia with an injured knee, the Yanks may have lost another starter in pitcher Red Ruffing, who was struck in batting practice Monday by a ball hit by Charley Keller.

Ruffing's right elbow was bruised and Manager Joseph McCarthy said he would not know until today whether the veteran hurler would be able to play. If not he said Monte Pearson would get the assignment.

S. J. Fitzgerald, Of Sudbury Firm, Is Dead In South

SUDBURY, Ont., April 16.—Word was received here yesterday of the death Saturday at Santa Barbara, California, of S. J. Fitzgerald, former Sudbury resident and president of the Sudbury Diamond Drill Company.

2,000 Albertans To Attend Army Camps In Summer

CALGARY, April 16.—More than 2,000 officers and men in the non-permanent militia in Alberta will undergo summer training at Sarcee Camp to equip them for enlistment in the Canadian Active Service Force, staff officers of Military District 13 stated Monday in announcing details of training policy for the coming summer.

DOMINION WILL GET BIG ORDER FOR MUNITIONS

TORONTO, April 16.—The Globe and Mail in a special dispatch from Ottawa says it learned authoritatively that British orders for war munitions amounting to $25,000,000 will be placed in Canada in the near future.

"In addition to the British orders, France will shortly place large contracts in the Dominion for similar supplies.

To increase the amount of British and French business coming to Canada, the new ministry of munitions and supply as one of its first acts has made John Carswell, former president of the Burlington Steel Company, as Canadian liaison officer with the allied purchasing board in New York.

GERMANY HAS LOST THIRD OF HER NAVY

PARIS, April 16 — Premier Paul Reynaud told the French Senate today that Germany has lost almost one-third of her navy in the past week of fighting in Scandinavian waters.

Specific figures, the premier declared, are, officially, 20 per cent of the Nazi navy, including 20 per cent of Germany's cruisers and 25 per cent of her destroyers.

Reynaud placed German sea losses at 73,000 tons during the past week when, he said, the Nazis "paid dearly for a single pound". He evidently referred to British and French merchant shipping.

The amount of naval and merchant German shipping, the premier declared, has been either sunk, scuttled or captured.

The senators cheered when Reynaud referred to President Roosevelt's speech yesterday.

"No one asks whom Mr. Roosevelt speaks when he said he considered force," the premier said.

BELGIUM ADDS NEW CLASS TO ARMED FORCES

Class Of 1940 Called Up In New Preparedness Move Monday

BRUSSELS, April 16.—Belgium called a new class to the colors last night shortly after announcing a concentration camp would be established for suspect aliens in western Flanders.

The class of 1940, due to come up for training July 1, was called 2½ months early in new preparedness moves by the cabinet.

Leopold, King of the Belgians, received Premier Hubert Pierlot early in the day. Later the Belgian cabinet met, discussing foreign affairs and measures for internal safety. Establishment of a concentration camp for suspect aliens at Ruysselede was announced immediately after the meeting.

Belgian anti-aircraft batteries at Loege opened up against an unidentified foreign plane which succeeded in making its escape.

It was learned here that German and Belgian negotiators had reached an agreement in principle for trade measures covering the next three months. The agreement would fix Belgian imports of Reich coal at 110,000 tons monthly, about 60 per cent of the pre-war figure.

A Dutch infantry sergeant and his 17-year-old fiance were arrested on charges of espionage at Gouda in Netherlands authorities and imprisoned at Rotterdam, after the homes of their parents had been searched.

The tiny duchy of Luxembourg shared the nervousness of the two larger lowland countries. Extraordinary police precautions were ordered during the day.

In the cities of Luxembourg and Esch, where guards recently created by grand ducal decree began to function as supplementary night guards for public buildings.

There are massive German forces concentrated on the Luxembourg and Dutch borders.

Head Of Nazi Puppet Regime Is Supplanted

British United Press

STOCKHOLM, April 16.—Stockholm picked up a broadcast by Radio Oslo, now under German control, that Major Vidkun Quisling, head of the puppet regime set up by the Germans at Oslo, had been supplanted by Ingolf Elster Christensen, aged 68. Like Quisling, he had once been Norwegian defense minister.

Before the broadcast, reliable German quarters had said that it had told the British United Press that German authorities had approved certain changes in the cabinet" in an attempt to reach a "satisfactory agreement" with King Haakon of Norway.

Quisling, these quarters said, was to become "chief of demobilization" in Norwegian areas under German control.

SEEDING HERE IS RETARDED BY LATE SNOW

Present Delay Not Regarded As Serious For Crops

Seeding throughout Alberta has been greatly delayed through late snow-storms, according to provincial government officials. While the delay is not yet regarded as serious, officials are hopeful that sun and wind will put land in shape for seeding at an early date.

It was recalled that at this time last year, seeding was under way in various parts of the province.

From other sources it was learned that records show little relationship between heavy crops and early or late seeding.

In 1937 when favorable April weather permitted 45 per cent of wheat seeding to be completed before May 1, the crop was only 74,000,000 bushels and in 1936 when only five per cent of the crop was seeded before the end of April the crop was the smallest in recent history, totalling 66,000,000 bushels.

In 1934 when 64 per cent of the seeding was completed in April a crop of 132,000,000 bushels was harvested.

In 1928, six per cent of the seeding was completed in April and the harvested crop totalled 171,000,000 bushels, the second largest on record.

Late snows are said to contribute little to the reserve moisture situation and the main benefit is prevention of soil blowing. A wet season is predicted but this is without any definite basis.

OXFORD IRKED AT REGISTRATION ALIEN REFUGEES

British United Press

OXFORD, Eng., April 16.—Oxford, for long years the home of lost causes, seems to have become a home-from-home for lost nationalities. Britain's oldest university town now has 2,400 undergraduates and 1,000 aliens registered at the Oxford city police aliens department.

This fact is causing grave concern, for statistics have shown of Germans alone, the figures for January were: men, 302; women, 435, and children, 70. About 800 Germans and Austrians have been granted non-internment certificates by the Oxford aliens tribunal since war began.

Even the university authorities are worried over the presence of so many refugee candidates among the scholarship entries.

These youths have an advantage over their English competitors, since they have no military obligations such as are bound to interrupt the English boys' studies.

ADDRESS MADE BY ROOSEVELT PLEASES ALLIES

British United Press

LONDON, April 16.—President Roosevelt's address to the board of governors of the Pan American Union hailed in the British press today as "realistic" and a "fiercely contemptuous denunciation of Nazi policy and principles."

British United Press

PARIS, April 16.—In Paris President Roosevelt's speech to the Pan American Union governors was given wide circulation and commentators were unreserved in their approval.

British United Press

BERLIN, April 16.—An authorized German source, commenting on President Roosevelt's speech yesterday in which he reiterated the principle of excluding Europe from American affairs, said that the principle "works both ways."

The source said—and we quote—"In effect the United States should not meddle in Europe. European affairs must be settled in the European way."

Highway Flooded, Grade Is Harmed In Lamont Sector

Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin

LAMONT, April 16.— The sudden run-off caused every creek and ditch around Lamont to overflow but water is receding to some extent.

For a time the C.N.R. grade, two miles west of town, was in danger of being washed out but the water has lowered and a repair gang is working on the section. The highway along the edge of town was two to three feet under water in some places.

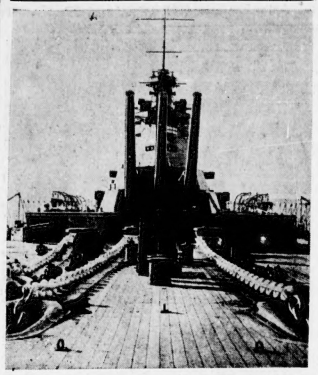

During the past 10 days cars and busses have not been travelling to Edmonton from Lamont. Several basements in town are filled with water.

Don McQueen of Lamont left for Toronto recently to take up duties as a mechanic in the R.C.A.F. A Bell also has left to be with the stores department of the air force. Jim Coone and Syl. Letawsky are expecting calls to begin training as pilots.

Trawler Lost

LONDON, April 16.—The Scottish trawler Sansonnet is missing and feared lost, it was disclosed today, as a result of a German attack April 3. A crew of 10 was aboard. The trawler Gorgeon was sunk and three other trawlers were attacked at the same time.

Resisted Bomb

This deck, under the massive guns of the 38,000-ton British battleship Rodney, resisted a heavy German aerial bomb." So said Winston Churchill, First Lord of the Admiralty, in a recent report to Commons on Skagerrak fighting. He said the bomb injured 7 men.

"Y" Campaigners Start $32,000 Drive For War, Home Service Projects

Campaign canvassers for the Canadian Y. M. C. A. war services fund started out on their job today, to raise Edmonton's quota of the $1,038,000 required for the recreational services and supplying of leave-time comforts to troops overseas and in Canada.

Final tactics were mapped and a last "pep talk" given at a banquet attended by 100 workers in the Macdonald hotel Monday evening and the men were started out to sell the Y.M.C.A. to Edmontonians.

Edmonton's quota for the national fund is $2,000 and the local appeal is being combined with this to raise an additional $7,000 for the regular work in the city.

AT THE FRONT

"Many of us recall the work of the Y.M.C.A. in the last war," Alex. M. MacDonald, M.C., chairman of the campaign committee told the gathering. "They provided sports equipment which we were only too glad to get hold of and they were always right up in the front positions with us.

"A few people have suggested that the government should supply these things, but I disagree with this. The soldiers don't want to be always under the control of the army. There are times when a soldier is on leave and he wants to be a 'free nigger.' He needs to spend his time in a place of recreation that is entirely apart from the army."

Moving pictures of the work of the Y.M.C.A. with the first Canadian division overseas were shown.

Based on an actual survey of conditions and estimates of requirements, the overseas budget will help to provide services including the following:

1—Y.M.C.A. programs for Canadian troops in England, in the battle areas and on transports.

2—Operating expenses and programs of the "Beaver Club" in London and other leave centres where needed later.

NINE HUTS

3—Furnishing and equipment for nine "Y" huts now operating at Aldershot and other centres where needed later.

4—Provision of free games, athletic equipment, writing paper, books, motion picture shows, concerts and other comforts or entertainment.

5—Staff to operate centres and organize off-duty programs including sports, athletics, sing-songs, entertainment, informal education and inspirational meetings.

6—Operation of mobile units for serving refreshments to troops on night manoeuvres and in the battle areas.

TROOP SERVICES

The money required for services to troops in Canada will help to provide the following:

1—Cost of operating huts or centres now in service in camps including equipment, furnishing and, where necessary, construction costs.

2—Furnishings, equipment and operation of 19 "Y" clubs or centres in barracks and in cities from coast to coast.

3—Operating expenses of the "Halifax Hostel," a building with sleeping accommodation for 500 men and regular social facilities for many more.

4—Provision of free games, books, writing paper, athletic equipment, motion picture shows, concerts, dances.

5—A special program for men of the R.C.A.F. and of the Empire air training scheme.

PEACE RIVER ICE BREAKUP IS DAY LATER

$500 In Pot For Annual Sweepstake — Plane Lands On Lake

Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin

PEACE RIVER, April 16—Spring was definitely ushered in at 4:40:31, April 15 which is the official time of the breakup of the Peace, one day later than the breakup for the past four years.

There was nothing spectacular about the movement beyond a rapid rise in the water early Monday morning due to mild weather in the mountains, the ice lifting several feet before starting down stream. Ice in some places is piled high in the banks but the channel is only about half full.

For the first time in about thirty years the Peace moved itself but the usual breakup is caused by the Smoky which breaks the ice and moves the tripod, the Peace following two or three days later from above the mouth of the Smoky.

With over $500 in the pot to be divided amongst the guessers it will not be decided before late afternoon who the lucky ones are. The Board of Trade will benefit by $100 and, after expenses are deducted, the closest guess will get about $160, the second about $80 and 10 smaller prizes.

Shortly before the ice move a Peace River plane arrived from Yellowknife and flew low over the field of ice, then kept on going out to Bear Lake to make a landing there, which was both lucky and good judgment, as less than one hour after the ice was moving.

Crocuses litter the hillsides and some farmers express the opinion that they will be on land by the end of this week.

SEA LION KING MEETS FATE AT CAPTAIN'S HANDS

British United Press

VANCOUVER, B.C., April 16—Horatio, king of the sea lion rookery on Spider Island, near Nanu Bay, British Columbia, will tear no more salmon nets, according to Captain L. Cassman of the motor vessel Tallow, who brought the carcass of the giant sea lion into port here.

Cassman, master of the fishing boat Tallow, said how he killed the sea lion from a dinghy with a well-placed bullet from a .30-30, along with five others.

Horatio, weighing nearly a ton, will be boiled down for oil, and his coat will be used for leather.

Province Now Giving Aid To Flooded Areas

Extending every possible assistance to stricken families in the flooded areas near Drumheller, the provincial government has aided more than 100 families, according to Hon. Dr. W. W. Cross, minister of health and in charge of relief.

Instructions have been issued by the minister to J. Gray, in charge of relief operations at Drumheller, to care for families requiring assistance and to give every possible aid.

Necessities were being forwarded to Drumheller Tuesday.

Missing Child Is Found By Father

CORONADO, April 16.—While a search party of 50 men sought miles for two-year-old Milly Horball, missing from 8 a.m. Monday, she was found shortly after midnight Monday by her father, A. Horball, lying in a stubble field about a mile from her home. Badly chilled, she is expected to recover. The father continued his search alone, guided by her faint cries, after the search party had stopped.

It is possible for an airplane to make a safe landing with only one propeller.
